Features

1. Why Texaco Is Important to University Presses
   by Sanford Thatcher (Pennsylvania State University Press)

18. Texaco Copyright Appeal Decided by Laura N. Gasaway (UNC-CH) Is this important case turning "fair use" on its ear? Librarians and library associations were disappointed in the result that upheld the district court's decision in favor of the publishers.

36. Give Me Barcodes, or Give Me Carpal Tunnel!
   by John Archer What happens when Innopac Users talk at the Charleston Conference . . .

44. In Praise of Bookshops — Philadelphia Used Bookshops
   As many of us head to ALA Midwinter, forget all those clichés about Philadelphia. Philly is a city of books and publishing. It is pretty exciting that Jack Walsdorf has taken the time to find some of the best bookshops near the ALA exhibit area!

52. International Book Publishing: An Encyclopedia
   Early this year, the first major reference volume focusing specifically on book publishing will be issued by Garland Publishing, Inc.

Interviews

20. Joseph Allen, President and CEO, Copyright Clearance Center
   The CCC figured prominently in the opinion handed down in Texaco. This is a look at the man who heads up this increasingly important organization.

26. Knut Dorn, Managing Director, Harrassowitz
   The man we all know as "Mr. Harrassowitz" gave us a detailed interview this summer in Wiesbaden.
