Preconferences: Wednesday, November 4, 1998

9:00-12:30 Library Marketing: What Really Works for Librarians, Vendors and Publishers — The Charleston Group — A practical preconference about what really works in selling materials to libraries. Preconference will include highlights of a survey on reactions to publisher marketing that went to 5300 public, academic, medical and law librarians in 1997 by Dr. Karen Schmidt, University of Illinois — Urbana Champaign. Topics will include publisher literature, Web sites, value of reviews, and future directions of library acquisitions from the perspectives of both librarians and publishers/vendors.

1:00 - 5:00 PM — These are Concurrent Sessions

1) 1:00-5:00 Collection Management Solutions: Creative Uses of Technology — The Charleston Group
How is technology helping to solve problems? Research for the Council of Library and Information Resources conducted by consultant Leigh Watson Healy focused on the visions and needs of libraries in an attempt to identify strategic directions for vendors. Preconference will include case studies from leading libraries as to implementation and integration of technology and content.

2) 1:00-5:00 Serials Management: The Next Generation — Buzzy Basch and Basch Associates
How are libraries coping with electronic journals, rising prices, cancellations, duplication, and alternative delivery sources? Participants will discuss and explore their ability to deal with ambiguity in the changing serials marketplace.

3) 1:00-5:00 Interpreting Financial Statements & Creating and Understanding Appropriate Budgets for Your Organization — Dave Lang — Librarians, publishers, and information professionals are challenged by how to estimate, cost-out, charge for and/or recover and review all expenses related to their products, services, overhead, future growth, and human resources associated with defining their collections and resources. This preconference will cover the basic budget process and the analysis of financial statements and should be of interest to anyone associated with developing and responding to new products and services for the digital age in the library environment. What determines financial value of both print and electronic collections? Presentation will include accounting/records management/financial background, introduction of vocabulary, case analyses, and some exercises from a workbook prepared specifically for this session. Registrants should bring examples of financial statements from their work environments, from simple records to reports generated from OPACs and management information systems, to use as additional reference material.

Dave Lang has been a CPA for 22 years, associated with former "Big 8" firms in Pittsburgh and Orange County, California. For the past 14 years he has been an owner/partner in a private accounting practice in Irvine, Calif, working with a diverse client list in nearly all economic sectors. He has a BS in Accounting from Penn State, MBT in Business Taxation from USC and was elected to serve on the Board of Trustees of the South Orange County Community College District in 1996.

4) 1:00-5:00 Search Lights and Saint Bernards: The Best Use of Tools and Time in Searching The Web — Jill O'Neill (ISI) — This half-day workshop will approach Web searching from the perspective that determining the right tool to use in locating Web-based resources will enhance the value of the search results as well as shorten the amount of time spent in retrieval.
