Fig. 2. ROAD SCHOOL HEADLINERS—Wednesday dealt with state highway reports and highway research at Purdue. Presenting reports were, from the left, Harold L. Michael, who spoke on characteristics of high accident drivers; E. J. Yoder, on design and performance of reinforced concrete pavement; M. B. Scott, who presided at the session; and Leonard E. Wood, on building embankments with shales.
Fig. 3. SAFE HIGHWAYS URGED—Speakers discussed fail-safe highway structures, better directional signs, and more control of access at interchanges as important factors in highway safety. Shown, from the left, are F. J. Tamanini, chief of structures and applied mechanics division, Federal Highway Administration, Washington, D.C.; Prof. Gilbert Satterly, research engineer at Purdue; Prof. Harold L. Michael, co-chairman of Road School; and Gerson J. Alexander, chief of human factors branch, Federal Highway Administration.

Fig. 4. WHO GETS THE HIGHWAY DOLLAR—Financing transportation needs was the theme for the last general session. Speakers urged that Congress get on with the task of completing the Interstate System and then let the states meet more of their local problems, such as mass transit. Shown from the left are William R. McGrath, Yorktown Heights, N.Y., national president of the Institute of Traffic Engineers; Congressman Roger H. Zion, Evansville; Prof. William H. Goetz, co-chairman of the Road School; and Gerald D. Love, Homewood, Illinois, Regional Federal Highway Administrator. Also appearing on the program, but not shown, was Stephen Ferguson, Bloomington, chairman of the committee on roads and transportation, Indiana House of Representatives.
Fig. 5. COUNTY COMMISSIONERS ELECT—Officers elected by the Indiana Association of County Commissioners included, from the left, Robert Daily (Howard County) Kokomo, secretary-treasurer; Tom Bell, Knox, executive secretary; Edward R. Green (Grant County) Marion, re-elected president; and Henry O. Oetting (Adams County) Decatur, vice president.

Fig. 6. COUNTY SUPERVISORS ELECT—Officers elected by the Indiana Association of County Highway Supervisors were, from the left, Clarence Stover (Miami County) Peru; secretary-treasurer; Roger Swanson (Cass County) Logansport, president; and Julian Benner (Wayne County) Richmond, vice president.
Fig. 7. COUNTY ENGINEERS ELECT—Named as new officers of the Indiana Association of County Engineers were, left to right, Harley M. Sargent (Elkhart County) Goshen, vice president, and William L. Altherr (White County) Monticello, president. Not shown is Stanley Hiatt (Delaware County) Muncie, who is the new secretary-treasurer.

Fig. 8. SURVEYORS ELECT OFFICERS—New officers elected by the Indiana County Surveyors Association last week included, from the left, Lawrence Trueblood (Washington County) Salem, second vice president; William Sweet (Allen County) Fort Wayne, secretary-treasurer; Charles Brower (Kosciusko County) Warsaw, first vice president; and William Tanke (Porter County) Valparaiso, president.

Fig. 10. STREET COMMISSIONERS ELECT—New officers elected by the Indiana Street Commissioners Association included, from the left, Elmer Toschlog, Richmond, second vice president; Walter Rassel, Garrett, first vice president; Charles H. Keller, Madison, re-elected secretary-treasurer; Homer C. Rose, Auburn, re-elected president; Oral Baker, Washington, third vice president; and Donald Decker, South Bend, fourth vice president.

Fig. 12. COUNTY AUDITORS MEET—The Indiana County Auditors Association was one of the cooperating groups meeting in conjunction with the 59th annual Purdue Road School. Officers, elected at an earlier meeting, include, left to right, Paul E. Smith (Carroll County) Delphi, president, and Donald F. Miller (Posey County) Mt. Vernon, vice president. Officers not shown include Mary Jane Weathers (Hendricks County) another vice president, and Jeannette O'Connell (Blackford County) secretary-treasurer.
Fig. 13. CITED FOR SMOOTH PAVEMENTS—Three highway contractors were cited for their work in building smooth roads in Indiana during 1972 by the Indiana State Highway Commission. From the left, Norman Langston, ISHC project engineer and Dowell Ifer, general superintendent, Lica Construction Corp., Linn Grove, Ind., for the best job of bituminous resurfacing, on US 27 near Portland; William Campbell, ISHC project engineer, and Gus Sieboldt, vice president, Ralph Rogers & Co., Inc., Bloomington, for the best flexible pavement, on US 41 north of Oaktown; Larry Koebcke, ISHC project engineer, and Sam Carman, vice president, Denton Construction Co., Poseyville, for the smoothest rigid, or concrete, pavement, on Interstate 94 one mile south of Michigan City. Nelson W. Steinkamp, extreme right, Batesville, chief engineer, ISHC, presented the awards and explained that more than 1,073 miles of new Hoosier roads were checked by roughometer and profilograph in determining the awards, which are presented annually by the highway department.
