Jobbers serving libraries with any book in print.
IEEE is VALUE.

Beth depends on IEEE publications to bring her organization the latest technology research.

Not only do IEEE publications provide Beth with over 1 million online documents — including top-cited journals, cutting-edge conferences and vital standards — they do it for a reasonable price.

Research shows that IEEE journals are just 58% of the average journal price in the field on a page-for-page basis. That's why 81% of IEEE customers are satisfied or highly satisfied with the value of IEEE content. And why Beth has the reputation for spending her budget so wisely.

To Beth, IEEE is value. Discover what IEEE can be for you.

Emily Dickinson’s Correspondences
Edited by Martha Nell Smith and Lara Vetter

“Having these manuscript materials available electronically—so that they may be viewed in color facsimile, searched, compared, and analyzed—will be a crucial and substantial contribution to this field. . . . As a teaching tool, this project is particularly important, as it gives students the ability to participate in hands-on, exploratory work of the kind usually reserved for scholars.”
—Catherine Paul, Clemson University, author of Poetry in the Museums of Modernism: Yeats, Pound, Moore, Stein

Unpublished in book form in her lifetime, the poems of Emily Dickinson nonetheless enjoyed an extensive distribution—through her letters. More than one-third of her poems appeared in her letters to family and friends. Emily Dickinson’s Correspondences brings these letters together in a single XML-based archive. The initial installment will contain more than 400 letters, covering Emily’s correspondence with her sister Susan, with 1,300 letters to follow in future installments.

- Search by date, genre, manuscript features, linked publications, and full text
- Each letter presented with complete transcription and digitized scan of the holograph manuscript
- Complete editorial and bibliographical notes
- Regular updates to content and functionality
- 24/7 online access, with no special hardware or hosting required

New Subscription Options Deliver More Online Content in 2005

Complete AIP journal backfiles available online in 2005
In 2005, all AIP journals will be available online beginning with Volume 1, Number 1. This impressive amount of newly digitized material will provide users with tens of thousands of additional articles online — some going back more than 70 years. Regular subscriptions will include a five-year backfile (2000-2004), but for a small additional annual fee you can provide your patrons with the complete online archive of any AIP journal.

New online subscription for AIP Conference Proceedings
AIP has created a new subscription for 2005 that will provide online-only access to our Conference Proceedings series. Volumes will be available from January 2000 forward — more than 200 volumes — and the cost for all institutions is $4,950. This offers significant savings off the price of a print standing order. Online access is still available to standing order customers at no charge.

New combination package includes all AIP content
AIP has expanded its discounted package subscription offerings with the introduction of AIP Archival Plus. This package includes all the content of the AIP Archival combination, complete backfiles as available, and the following titles: AIP Conference Proceedings (online only), Geochemical Transactions (online only), Journal of Physical and Chemical Reference Data, and Low Temperature Physics.

http://librarians.aip.org

License a prestigious collection of science and engineering journals
AIP can tailor a consortia package to your needs, allowing you to provide electronic access to an unlimited number of users — regardless of their physical location. Many of the more than 100 journals in our collection are among the most highly cited in their field. Societies participating in AIP's consortia program include APS, ASCE, ASME, OSA ASA, AVS, AAPT, AAPM, SOR, IGD, SEG, ECS, and MAIK. For further information, e-mail mdrago@aip.org.

Register for the Scitation Usage Statistics Service
With the Scitation Usage Statistics Service, librarians can now view usage reports for the AIP, APS, AAPT, ASCE, ASME, and SPIE online journals to which they subscribe. This web-based password-protected service allows you to generate customized reports at your convenience. The Scitation Usage Statistics Service will soon be COUNTERcompliant. For more information, visit http://librarians.aip.org or email onlinhelp@aip.org.

With recent reports appearing in the trade press and listeners regarding a major industry player, it is natural that EBSCO has been faced with questions about our status. We wanted to take this opportunity to address any concern librarians or publishers may have regarding EBSCO. Introducing himself and sharing information about the company's financial and business position as well as its outlook for the future is new division general manager Allen Powell. After 10 years as chief financial officer of EBSCO Subscription Services, Allen took the helm of the information services division on July 1, 2004, leading the division's 31 Regional Offices and headquarters support departments into its 61st year.

First, I think it is appropriate to mention my background briefly so customers and publishers can get a sense of who I am and my experience in the information industry and with EBSCO. Before joining EBSCO, I worked for the public accounting firm Ernst & Young. I think it is important for managers to understand the financial implications of business decisions, and my accounting background has left me well prepared in this regard. As CFO of EBSCO Subscription Services, the financial aspect of the business has, of course, been a vital part of my job. I've also had a major focus on operations for some time. Over the past 14 years with EBSCO, I've built a critical understanding of the whole business top to bottom — seeing library customers during the initial sales process, order processing, customer service, IT systems and other areas. Finally, my involvement with various acquisitions of companies, including the RoweCom purchase last year, has allowed me to look into the details of competing subscription agencies — to understand how they are structured and operate, as well as compare and recognize what EBSCO does well and what other companies do as well as we work to improve our business.

Outlined below are some of the things I value most about EBSCO. These are the characteristics that made me comfortable joining the company and are still key reasons I come to work at EBSCO every day. I believe these are the same characteristics our library customers are looking for when they consider vendors for subscription and e-resources services and are things our publisher partners also see as important.

Integrity. This starts with the owners and the management, who set the example. We believe right is right and endeavor to do things the right way. We approach business from a conservative financial standpoint. Doing what we say we will do has long been a policy at EBSCO. We are careful what we commit to, so we can be sure to deliver on those commitments.

Stability. EBSCO is proud to remain a family-owned company. The EBSCO management team has a strong history in the information industry. Today the company is managed by James T. Stephens, son of founder Elton B. Stephens. On July 1, 2005, Elton's son-in-law F. Dixon Brooke, Jr. will become only the third president and chief executive officer in the company's 60-year history. Dixon has been with EBSCO for 31 years and served as the information services division general manager for 17 years.

Long-term view. EBSCO is fortunate to have owners who understand the business and have a strong hand in running it. They are intimately acquainted with the issues faced by our customers, publisher partners and our employees and take a long-term view in decision making. This view and our private ownership allow the main focus to be on running a well-managed business and improving our services and products over time as opposed to short-term objectives. We pay no dividends and reinvest our hard-earned profits back into the business.

Financial strength. EBSCO recently completed its most successful financial year ever. The company consistently earns a Dun & Bradstreet financial strength rating of 5A1, the highest awarded. It regularly appears on the Forbes list of the largest privately owned corporations in the U.S. This solid financial base allows us to invest in the continued development of our products and services to better assist our library customers. We are proud of the fact that throughout our 60-year history we have consistently met our commitments in a timely manner and have earned the reputation of being a reliable and trusted business partner.

To be continued in a future issue.

Introducing Online Proceedings

6,000 pages • 60,000 papers • Full-Text Database

Librarians! Now you can offer your engineers online access to ASCE conference proceedings. The new ASCE Online Proceedings provides access to ASCE conference papers from 2003 to the present. The strong "practical applications" focus of these papers provides practitioners and researchers with in-depth coverage of emerging technologies and leading-edge technical findings presented at key civil engineering conferences around the world - information often unavailable anywhere else. Please contact American Society of Civil Engineers at 1-800-548-2723 or visit online at www.ascelibrary.org for more information.

2005 price for Online Proceedings is $750. If your institution subscribes to a 2006 All Journals subscription, your price for Online Proceedings is $500 (special discounted price for 2005 All Journals subscribers).

Access and Usage: A Research Library subscription is not required to use the search and browse features or to view tables of contents and abstracts. Downloading full-text digital paper is available only to subscribers. Institutional subscribers gain access to the Research Library via their organization's IP addresses and may use the archive in a manner consistent with their institutional license agreement. All full-text papers are provided in PDF format. Archival Policy: An optional archival CD-ROM will be available.

Business student Laurie Francis wanted to go deeper into a research topic. We were already three steps ahead of her.

ProQuest introduces Curriculum Match Factor, a new way of thinking about how our content matches your curriculum. It reflects this reality: ABI/INFORM® provides the content that corresponds with the topics covered in business courses and textbooks throughout the world. The content comes from the most-respected, most-cited journals and other sources worldwide. And our new ProQuest® Smart Search technology helps Laurie find exactly what she needs, in a matter of moments. ABI/INFORM has always been about content. But it's also about curriculum and the content that matches it perfectly. ABI/INFORM. It's what you're teaching. For more information, visit www.il.proquest.com.

"How about the standing orders?"

"They've always been with Midwest. Never had a problem there!"

For over forty years, Midwest Library Service has been quietly relieving librarians of the problems often associated with book and standing order purchasing.

Our Continuation & Standing Order Service is based on intensive, personal contact with thousands of publishers to ensure prompt and complete fulfillment on series, sets, annuals, yearbooks, and proceedings. It is our goal to take the guesswork and anxiety out of continuations and standing order fulfillment through timely shipments and thorough reporting.

Using sophisticated tracking programs, Midwest monitors pre-publication information and shipping schedules instead of relying on publisher-based systems. We will customize the fulfillment frequencies on annuals and yearbooks on a title-by-title basis. In the case of a delayed or missing edition, we contact the publisher by telephone to ensure fulfillment. Of course, you have access to historical fill data whenever needed. And to make matters even easier for you, we will assist in the seamless transfer of standing orders placed previously with publishers or other booksellers.

In an unstable time of publisher upheavals and understaffed, harried libraries, isn't it good to have a vendor you can count on?

If you are not completely satisfied with your current vendor, look to Midwest for all your book buying needs.

For more information, contact a Standing Order specialist at 800-325-8833 or standingorders@midwestls.com.
