Defining nanoscience and nanotechnology

ACS Nano is a new international forum for the communication of comprehensive articles on nanoscience and nanotechnology research at the interfaces of chemistry, biology, materials science, physics, and engineering. Moreover, the journal helps facilitate communication among scientists from all these research communities in developing new research opportunities, advancing the field through new discoveries, and reaching out to scientists at all levels.

ACS Nano includes studies on...

- Synthesis, assembly, characterization, theory, and simulation of...
  - Nanostructures
  - Nanomaterials and assemblies
  - Nanodevices
  - Self-assembled structures
- Nanobiotechnology
- Nanofabrication
- Methods and tools for nanoscience and nanotechnology
- Self- and directed-assembly

“Already, hundreds of authors and reviewers and many staff at ACS have contributed to assembling this inaugural issue, in which you will find interdisciplinary work in devices, materials, nanolithography, nano-manipulation, nanomedicine, self-assembly, and sensors. We hope that you will join us on this adventure, and we will depend on you and your colleagues to make ACS Nano what we imagine.”

The American Institute of Physics introduces a one-time payment option for perpetual access to the complete AIP historical archive, 1930-2001. While all regular subscriptions to AIP journals include a five-year backfile, the new AIP Digital Archive gives you permanent access to all AIP journal content older than five years. The AIP Archive provides seminal research dating back to the early 1930s for such core titles as The Journal of Chemical Physics, Journal of Applied Physics, and Review of Scientific Instruments.

Every year, the oldest year of the five-year backfile that is included with current-year subscriptions will roll into the AIP Digital Archive. In 2008, for example, the Archive will add all 2002 articles from each publication. The Archive currently contains nearly 300,000 articles.

Those wishing to purchase the AIP Digital Archive have two options for accessing its content. You can choose long-term access via AIP's Scitation hosting platform, which allows users to link to a wide range of related content and valuable features, or you can choose a local-hosting option for your institution's own network.

The AIP Digital Archive includes the following titles and dates of coverage:

- The Journal of Chemical Physics (1933-2002)
- Journal of Mathematical Physics (1960-2002)
- Physics of Fluids (1958-2002)

Continuations and Standing Orders

Preface
Continuations and standing orders represent a frustrating and time-consuming area of book acquisitions. Efficient management of continuations requires a staff knowledgeable in all aspects of standing order procedures, with prompt and accurate service being essential.

Midwest Library Service has been providing continuation and standing order programs to libraries for over three decades with the same commitment to high quality as our firm order service: prompt delivery, accurate invoicing, immediate reporting, convenient communications, and personal Library Service Representatives. Our reputation for excellence is well established and we invite you to place your continuations list with us.

Scope
Our Continuation & Standing Order Service encompasses most series and continuations from U.S. publishers. Our services do not include supplying magazines, journals, or loose-leaf updating services.

Procedure
Our Continuation & Standing Order Service incorporates both automated systems and personal surveillance. Instead of relying on the filing and ordering systems of the publishers, we place orders for specific volumes as books are due to be published. If the next item in a series is not received when scheduled, we initiate a new order for the same item. This procedure helps avoid potentially missed volumes and eliminates any dependence upon the publishers’ fulfillment systems. If in-house information is not available on future volumes to be published, we call the publisher for future projections and publication schedules. This information is then used to update our new title records.

Advantages
1. Because of our method of ordering specific volumes, we are in regular communication with the publishers.
2. Our status reports are prompt and accurate and should eliminate library claims.
3. Specific claims from an individual library resulting in an updated status report will generate new status reports to all libraries ordering the same series.
4. We do not drop ship.

Quality service depends on good communications between the library and the jobber. Your personal Library Service Representative and our convenient communications provide easy access to us regarding your continuation orders. We invite you to try our service by sending us your next list of standing order titles.
