

AJRSA

American Journal of Rising Scholar Activities

A Purdue University, peer and editor reviewed, undergraduate STEM research and activities journal

Accessibility Statement

This is the accessibility statement for the American Journal of Rising Scholar Activities. Our journal is not currently accessible through any other means than by standard web browsers. Web Content Accessibility Guidelines (WCAG) define requirements for content designers and web developers to improve accessibility for people with disabilities, and these guidelines define three levels of conformance: Level A, Level AA, and Level AAA. To date, our electronic journal has not been assessed with WCAG 2.1 level AA. Not assessed means that our content has not been evaluated for accessibility. However, we are committed to providing our content to anyone with an interest. If you would like to explore our material, but are unable to do so because a disability, please contact our Editor-in-Chief: ajrsa@ecn.purdue.edu. We welcome your feedback and questions on the accessibility, and we will try to respond to all requests within 20 business days.