Bibliography of Contextual (Systemic and Empirical) Approaches in the Study of Literature and Culture

This Bibliography contains works following the theoretical and methodological premises and postulates established in Itamar Even-Zohar's polysystem theory, Niklas Luhmann's systems theory, Siegfried J. Schmidt's empirical study of literature (Empirische Literaturwissenschaft), Jacques Dubois's theory of the literary institution (l'institution littéraire), and Pierre Bourdieu's theory of the literary field (champ littéraire). Relevant items are also included from systems-oriented frameworks following Robert Estivals's système d'écriture and the macrosystem approach of Immanuel Wallerstein. Several of these theoretical frameworks are less known on the theoretical landscape of US-American scholarship and thus the "contextual" designation comes closest to the postulates of the frameworks each of which with various degrees of systems and/or empirical orientation. The bibliography includes 1) theoretical and meta-theoretical studies, 2) applications of above frameworks, and 3) selected works whose theoretical trajectory, although not explicitly stated, is similar to above frameworks. The bibliography contains works published in English, French, and German. However, it should be noted that there exists a substantial corpus of above frameworks in Dutch-, Hungarian-, Russian-, Portuguese-, Spanish, and Swedish-, as well as, in smaller numbers, in Bulgarian-, Chinese-, Czech-, Italian-, Japanese-, Korean-, Slovak-, Romanian-, etc., language scholarship. Note that Siegfried J. Schmidt's publications are available in "Bibliography of Siegfried J. Schmidt's Publications." Comp.
