Two Poems: Stop Time Before; Forsaken Ones

Ánh-Hoa Thị Nguyễn
St. Catherine University, poetessanhhoa@gmail.com

Follow this and additional works at: https://docs.lib.purdue.edu/jsaaea

Part of the American Literature Commons, American Popular Culture Commons, Asian American Studies Commons, Asian History Commons, Bilingual, Multilingual, and Multicultural Education Commons, Cultural History Commons, Ethnic Studies Commons, Labor History Commons, Literature in English, North America Commons, Literature in English, North America, Ethnic and Cultural Minority Commons, Military History Commons, Oral History Commons, Poetry Commons, Political History Commons, Social History Commons, and the United States History Commons

Recommended Citation
DOI: 10.7771/2153-8999.1186
Available at: https://docs.lib.purdue.edu/jsaaea/vol14/iss1/6

This document has been made available through Purdue e-Pubs, a service of the Purdue University Libraries. Please contact epubs@purdue.edu for additional information.

This is an Open Access journal. This means that it uses a funding model that does not charge readers or their institutions for access. Readers may freely read, download, copy, distribute, print, search, or link to the full texts of articles. This journal is covered under the CC BY-NC-ND license.
Creative and Literary Works

Two Poems

Ánh-Hoa Thi Nguyễn
St. Catherine University

For Tommy Le & His Family

Stop.

Time. Before. The bullet.

Time. Seconds. Before. You were.

Before. The bullet. Stop.

Time.

I.

Your life was stolen before you were born.

An invisible chain of labor pulled you from the womb.

Our ancestors’ blood burned streams of lava searing constellations

scarring the map of our histories.
The sweetness of your eyes have roots in the ashy soil of Hawaii,

the cruel cane of Cuba,

the smoked earth of Louisiana.²

* Bodies so brown they were black, too. *

This was time before.

Before you were born.

Their history is never our history.

II.

* Before time * your youth was tapped like rubber from a tree.

Starved of the rice from your own seeds.

For centuries

you were not the owner of your life.

This chain your mother gave you

the gold of sacrifice

hanging around her neck.

This is your worth bought back

now buried.

Their truth is never our truth.

III.

It has never been a fair fight.
You with a pen in hand. ³

The Western hero with the gun.

What were they so afraid of?

With their
Atomic Bombs
Dumb Bombs
Guided Bombs
Cluster Bombletts
Fuel Air Explosives
Fuel Air Bombs
Hand Combat Weapons
Pistols and Revolvers
Infantry Rifles
Sniper/Marksman Rifles
Submachine Guns
Shotguns
Machine Guns
Grenades and Mines
Agent Orange

Torture

Before your time.

You were in the line of fire a line so long it seems infinite.

Your life annihilated another line of lines in the paper in the streets in the lies in the crimes in the fields in the shrines.

IV.

I will light incense for you.

I will pick up your pen.

I will use it as my weapon.

I will carve your memory in my skin.

I will sow the seeds of your story.

Savor your smile like sugar.
Forsaken Ones

For Vietnamese  spirits lost at sea

Sun searing  salt on lips.

Tongues betray  captive in mouths.

No words to will  no will to speak.

Souls float  an illusive fog

In hulls  of skin.

Ribs like reeds  fragile as fingers  cupping water.

For weeks.
For weeks.

You are still.  You are silent.  You are breath upon breath.

Bones bowing  bodies bifurcating.

You is a collective stench  a collective stifling.

You long for  the smoke of incense  broil of charcoal  exhaust of motorbikes.

Strands of hair  scented with sand.

Remember  the smell of safety.

You beg for rain.

Please.
Please.
Please.

The hunger tightening  all you crave.

Food.
Family.
Freedom.

Clawing you inside.
So loud this siren of sacrifice. Suffering.
So loud it makes you want.

To swim.

Notes
1. Vietnamese American, 20-year-old Tommy Le, was unarmed and shot in the back by King County, Washington police on June 14, 2017.

About the Author

Ánh-Hoa Thi Nguyể́n, is a refugee, writer, community artist, activist, and educator. Ánh-Hoa holds an MFA in Creative Writing from Mills College in Oakland, California where she was awarded the Mary Merrit Henry Prize in Poetry and the Ardella Mills Literary Composition Prize in Creative Non-Fiction. Some of her publications include “Asian Pacific American Journal,” the Vietnamese Artists Collective anthology “AS IS: A Collection of Visual and Literary Works by Vietnamese American Artists,” the Asian American Women Artists Association (AAWAA) anthology “Cheers to Muses: Contemporary Works by Asian American Women,” “Troubling Borders, An Anthology of Art and Literature by Southeast Asian Women in the Diaspora” and diaCRITICS, a project of the Diasporic Vietnamese Artists Network (DVAN). She has also performed her work at numerous venues in the Bay Area and Twin Cities. Ánh-Hoa is the founder of Pomelo Press, and creates self-published and hand bound artists books. She has been an Artist-in-Residence at the de Young Museum and Writer-in-Residence at Hedgebrook and Djerassi Resident Artist Program. Ánh-Hoa is a Voices of Our Nation Arts Foundation (VONA) alumna, Elizabeth George Foundation Fellow, and a Minnesota State Arts Board Artist Initiative Grant winner. In the summer of 2018, she was the artist-in-residence for The Floating Library with her project “Waves Enfolding: A Paper Memorial” that honored the lives lost during the Vietnamese refugee waves of 1954 and after The War in Vietnam and South East Asia, 1975-1992. She is currently a Lecturer at St. Catherine University and a member of She Who Has No Master(s), a collective of women and gender-nonconforming writers of the Vietnamese diaspora.
Nguyễn: Stop Time & Forsaken

Published by Purdue e-Pubs, 2019
Doctoral Student Editorial Review Board

Linh Dang
University of Rochester
My-Lan Huynh
California State University East Bay
Hoa Nha Nguyen
Boston College
Thien-Huong Ninh
University of Southern California
Krissyvan Truong
Claremont Graduate University
Melissa Vang
San Diego State University
Claremont Graduate University
Nielsen Hul
Cornell University
Bao Diep
University of Minnesota

Annie BichLoan Duong
San Joaquin County Office of Education
Dung Minh Mao
University of Minnesota
Khoi Nguyen
George Mason University
Linda Marie Pheng
University of Wisconsin-Madison
Mai Vang
University of Massachusetts Boston
Soua Xiong
San Diego State University
Claremont Graduate University
Diana Chandara
University of Minnesota
Thong Vang
University of Minnesota