Online Scheduling: Students can log in to your writing center at any time and on any day to make an appointment via WCOnline's fast and secure Internet portal. Clients are matched with an available tutor and scheduled time is marked as reserved—all automatically, all online, and all under your direct supervision.

Secure Recordkeeping: Each and every visit to your writing center is logged into the WCOnline system. As the administrator, you can easily see what your tutors worked on with a client, how many times a particular client has visited, and the contact information for any client (including such information as majors, email addresses, and client backgrounds).

Comprehensive Reporting: As the administrator, you can choose from a wide variety of reports that provide detailed analysis of center usage by hour, day, tutor, or client. You can also view and print various reports on the background of the students that use your center, as well as on center usage in general. Custom reports can be easily added and all reports can be instantly exported to Microsoft Word or Excel.

Statement of Purpose

The Writing Center Journal is an official publication of the International Writing Centers Association, which is an Affiliate of the National Council of Teachers of English. WCJ is published twice a year, in the fall/winter and spring/summer.

The Writing Center Journal's primary purpose is to publish original research of interest to writing center professionals and to those forging connections between writing centers and the wider arenas of rhetoric and composition studies. As a forum for peer-reviewed scholarship, WCJ publishes theoretical and empirical research on a range of practices, pedagogies, and administration associated with writing center work. WCJ aims to reflect the diversity of writing center contexts through its content and, in so doing, encourages submissions focused not only on writing centers in colleges and universities but also in high schools, middle schools, and other environments. In addition, WCJ welcomes book reviews, announcements of interest, and letters responding to WCJ articles.
