It is always refreshing to see a poetry book in first place. FRESH PEACHES, FIREWORKS, & GUNS by Donald Platt, is the top seller at Purdue University Press, and the winner of the Verna Emery Poetry Competition. Purdue's director, David Sanders, happens to be a poet himself (when he is not directing the press) so that may explain part of the reason! This book is followed by an interesting list of books on a wide-range of topics — everything from trains to organized crime and the Ku Klux Klan.

Although Purdue's Press has been around since the 1960's, it was recently admitted to the Association of American University Presses (AAUP) in 1993. It has a yearly output of about 12 books.

Take a look at the Best Kept Secret which is written on illness from the patient's view — not the doctor's. In this volume, patient "pathographies" were compiled providing personal views of illness from the side of the patient. Go ahead and order it yourself and read further . . .

Top Ten Bestsellers — Purdue University Press

Radical Reflection and the Origin of the Human Sciences by Calvin O. Schrag. Paper — ISBN 091198-58-X $8.95. 146 pp. Philosophy. "... Schrag clearly presents the history of philosophical anthropology and methodological difficulties of social science. The book is useful on many levels and indispensable for serious students and scholars of social science and philosophy." — Choice

Best Kept Secret — Purdue University Press

Reconstructing Illness: Studies in Pathography by Anne Hunsaker Hawkins. Cloth — ISBN 1-55753-030-0 $28.00. Paper — ISBN 1-55753-038-6 $14.95. 224 pp. Social Sciences.

"Doctors may describe diseases and their effects from the outside; only patients can describe them from the inside. Such descriptions, which Anne Hunsaker Hawkins calls "pathographies," take the form of vivid personal accounts, often of journeys into a fearful realm of sickness. Reconstructing Illness is a beautifully written and profound consideration of the range of such pathographies, their organizing myths and metaphors, and the light they cast on what it means to be human in the face of illness." — Oliver Sacks, author of Awakenings.

Anne Hunsaker Hawkins is an associate professor of humanities at the Pennsylvania State University School of Medicine. She is the author of a book on autobiographies of conversion and numerous articles on the humanities and medicine.
