"Simply put, WCONLINE allows me to do what I most need and like to do much more easily and cost-effectively. Its capabilities enable me to make smarter staffing and scheduling decisions. It has vastly facilitated student appointment-making. It has been customized and upgraded with no hassles. Most importantly, its report capabilities have helped me to demonstrate clearly our center's success and to argue compellingly for our center's needs." Margaret Mika, Director: UWM Writing Center

Guidelines for Submission

The current editors invite article submissions of original empirical research and theoretical scholarship on topics of interest to the writing center community. We are also interested in book reviews and review essays; please query via email regarding potential reviews. The Writing Center Journal aims to reflect the diversity of writing center contexts and encourages submissions related to a wide variety of institution types and other environments. Article manuscripts should be submitted as a MS Word attachment emailed to writingcenterjournal@ou.edu. Articles are typically between 4,000 and 8,000 words and should follow NCTE's Guidelines for Non-Sexist Use of Language and the MLA Style Manual and Guide to Scholarly Publishing, 3rd edition. Please visit writingcenterjournal.org for expanded guidelines. Contact the editors at writingcenterjournal@ou.edu with any questions.
