

EXTENSION SERIES NO. 55
ENGINEERING EXTENSION DEPARTMENT

PROCEEDINGS OF THE
TWENTY-NINTH ANNUAL ROAD SCHOOL

HELD AT

PURDUE UNIVERSITY
JANUARY 25-27, 1943

Compiled and Edited by

BEN H. PETTY

Professor of Highway Engineering

PURDUE UNIVERSITY
LAFAYETTE, INDIANA

March, 1943

TABLE OF CONTENTS

	Page
Preface	5
Papers—
Wartime Highway Improvement as Affected by Men, Materials, Machinery, and Money, by Samuel C. Hadden, Chairman, State Highway Commission of Indiana	9
Let's Keep What We Have Until We Get More to Keep, by W. H. Root, Maintenance Engineer, Iowa State Highway Commission, Ames, Iowa	21
Relationship of Political Subdivisions to the War Production Board in Highway Improvement, by Ray H. Bower, Chief Engineer, State Highway Commission of Indiana	26
Maintaining an Adequate Equipment Supply for the Duration, by Bob Howe, Principal Construction Machinery Specialist, War Production Board, Regional Office, Chicago, Illinois	30
Outlook for Rubber, by Mark O. Ward, District Manager, B. F. Goodrich Company, Cincinnati, Ohio	32
Truck Tire Conservation, by J. T. Staker, Manager, Tire Conservation Department, B. F. Goodrich Company, Akron, Ohio ..	37
Your Duties and Authorities, by Otto K. Jensen, State Examiner, State Board of Accounts of Indiana	41
Pumping of Rigid Pavements Under War-time Traffic, by Tilton E. Shelburne, Research Engineer, Joint Highway Research Project, Purdue University	49
Discussion of "Pumping of Rigid Pavements Under War-time Traffic," by R. F. Berns, Engineer of Construction, State Highway Commission of Indiana	63
Mud Pumping, by F. E. Bernoske, District Engineer, LaPorte District, State Highway Commission of Indiana	64
Drainage of Highways and Airports, by T. B. McClelland, Research Engineer, Joint Highway Research Project, Purdue University	65
Discussion of "Highway and Airport Drainage Design," by N. F. Schafer, Superintendent of Maintenance, State Highway Commission of Indiana	73
Some Factors Affecting the Stability of Bituminous-Aggregate Base Courses, by A. H. Layman, Research Assistant, Joint Highway Research Project, Purdue University	74
The Use of Aerial Photographs in Identifying Granular Deposits and Other Soils, by J. E. Hittle, Research Engineer, Joint Highway Research Project, Purdue University	79

	Page
The Development of Engineering Soil Maps, by D. J. Belcher, Research Engineer, Joint Highway Research Project, Purdue University	86
Discussion of Papers Dealing With Uses of Aerial Photographs and Soil Maps, by T. M. Bushnell, in Charge, Soil Survey, Agricultural Experiment Station, Purdue University.....	92
Indiana War-time Traffic Speeds, by R. E. Frost, Research Engineer, Joint Highway Research Project, Purdue University. . .	99
Staggered Hours, by Hallie Myers, Director of Traffic, State Highway Commission of Indiana.....	107
Utilizing Data from Origin-Destination Surveys, by Charles Klopp, Engineer, Cook County Highway Department, Chicago, Illinois	111
Parking Control on Critical Streets, by James E. Loer, Engineer, Henry B. Steeg and Associates, Indianapolis, Indiana.....	114
Signal Timing and Mass Transportation Selective Stops, by James T. White, Traffic Engineer, Fort Wayne, Indiana.....	116
Planning a State War-time Traffic Program, by W. F. Milner, Traffic Engineer, State Highway Commission of Indiana.....	123
Group-Riding Programs, by Merl T. Calef, Traffic Engineer, Gary, Indiana	126
Bridge and Culvert Flow Areas, by F. W. Greve, Professor of Hydraulic Engineering, Purdue University.....	135
Simplification of Hydraulic Computations, by W. E. Howland, Professor of Sanitary Engineering, Purdue University.....	141
Views of a Railroad Engineer on Road and Ditch Assessments, by H. E. Woodburn, Division Engineer, New York Central Railroad, Mattoon, Illinois.....	146
Planning City Construction Projects, by S. W. Hodgin, City Civil Engineer, Richmond, Indiana.....	149
Pavement Reconstruction and Repairs Incurred by Water Service Connections and Other Utilities, by Clyde E. Williams, City Engineer, South Bend, Indiana.....	154
Repairing and Underpinning Bridge Abutments, Piers, and Retaining Walls, by Ernest H. Coffin, Wayne County Road Supervisor	161
Cleaning and Painting Steel Bridges, by Leaton Day, Boone County Road Supervisor.....	162
Conserving Our Equipment, by Glen Brown, Huntington County Road Supervisor	164
Publications of the Engineering Extension Department.....	166