FEATURES

ATG State of the Industry Issue

Biz of Acq — Canadian National Site Licensing Project

1
by Daniel Phelan — A site license is a way to gain a bulk discount when purchasing a significantly high number of copies of a given piece of software. The Canadian National Site Licensing Project (CNSLP) is an attempt to utilize this strategy to help a nationwide consortium gain access to electronic bibliographic and full-text databases at reduced prices.

Biz of Acq — Out-of-Print Books: A Practical, Web-Based Solution

by Michelle Flinchbaugh — In this month's column, Michelle describes how her acquisitions team successfully incorporated the Internet into OP work. She then details the procedure that works best at her library.

The Dilemma of Publisher Giveaways

by Georgia Briscoe — Each librarian must find his or her own comfort zone on how best to handle giveaways from vendors. This is an issue which is not going away soon; it only seems to be increasing.

Acquisitions in a Wired World: Where Are We Going?

26
by Rick Anderson — It's the best of times and the worst of times for acquisitions librarians ... just ask us ...

A Short History of Academic Library Bookselling in America: Or A Tale of the Two Richards:

28
by Daniel P. Halloran — Two men — Richard Abel and Richard Blackwell are primarily responsible for English language academic bookselling as we know it today. These two Richards shaped all of the modern, academic booksellers.

I User — First Encounters with the RCA eBook

32
by Rick Lugg and Ruth Fischer — This will be a new column in ATG beginning with this issue. What's the end user's experience when he or she encounters a new product? Here's an encounter with the RCA eBook.

Against the Grain Classifieds

34
Advertise your job listings, items for sale, or items wanted here. We thank you for your contributions.

Op Ed — Opinions and Editorials

35
Library-Based Profiling: Speaking Out by John R. Secor — Will library-based profiling reinvigorate library-vendor relations (Against the Grain, June 2000, p. 36)?

Millennium Minutes

36
This month's millennium entries include: My Life As A Page by Marisa Anna Scigliano; Drinking From the Firehose: Reminiscing About Old Technology by Eleanor I. Cook; and Do You Remember... by Nancy McKeehan. Our Millennium Minutes column will appear in each issue of Against the Grain throughout 2001, so those of you who have not yet submitted your memories, should write them down and send them to us!

Back Talk

86
Libraries in the New Information Economy by Tony Ferguson — A focus on one of four lessons, with special significance to large academic libraries, on the effects that changes in the technology of communication are having upon the economy.

LEGAL ISSUES

Edited by Bryan Carson, Bruce Strauch, and Jack Montgomery

- Legally Speaking 57
- Reference Questions and the Unauthorized Practice of Law by Bryan Carson.
- Questions and Answers 58
- Copyright Column by Laura Gasaway —

May a federal government library photocopy an entire issue of a journal in order to bind a complete volume? This is just one of the nitty-gritty questions that Laura answers in this regular column.

PUBLISHING

- And They Were There 60

Report from the 20th Annual Charleston Conference: Issues in Book and Serial Acquisition: Is Bigger Better? by Janet L. Flowers and A Conference Tour by Ana Arias Terry who's been quite busy reporting from these meetings: ALA Midwinter; American Association of Publishers/Professional & Scholarly Publishing; National Federation of Abstracters & Indexers; User Interface 2000 West; Society for Scholarly Publishing; Special Libraries Association; NASIG; ALA Annual Conference; and the Charleston Conference.

- Bestsellers in Australia/New Zealand .. 68

Françoise Crowell brings us a mixture of titles which reflect the diversity of interest in Australian/New Zealand topics. Librarians and arm chair travelers alike will find books here for their collections.

- Publisher Bestsellers 69

New York University Press by Julia A. Gammon — Rachel Weiss, Marketing and Sales Manager, at NYU Press, has provided this concise list of recent bestsellers.

- Book Pricing Update 70

Peter Piper Picked a Peck of Pre-Pub Prices by John Riley — We would like to thank Celia Wagner for her years of work on this column and welcome John Riley who is bringing us a new chapter in Book Pricing Updates. John plans to take a different tack in examining pricing and wants to focus on different areas where pricing is an issue.

BOOKSELLING AND VENDING

- Issues in Vendor/Library Relations .. 70

A Lasting Difference by Bob Nardini — Twenty years is not a long time in the overall scheme of things but is it time enough for scores of companies to vanish and leave no trace. Who are the unluckiest participants in our Information Age?

- Issues in Vendor/Library Relations .. 72

Will Amazon Wal-mart the Book Vendors? Bob Nardini and John Abbott — It's become commonplace to say that anyone who displays bibliographic data and/or delivers books within an academic setting should emulate some of the practices of Amazon.com. John Abbott, at the recent Charleston Conference, made an interesting opposite point, that Amazon might want to act like a book vendor. After hearing him, Bob invited John to take part in this exchange.

- Oregon Trails 74

Tom begins the new year with some looks at publisher catalogs. We love it when he does this!

- Group Therapy 76

by Rosann Bazirjian — This month Judy McConnell wants to know if anyone has created a policy for maintaining current titles that are also in a full-text database.

- The Times They are A-Changin': 76

Looking Back and Looking Ahead at the O.P. Market by Jack Walsdorf — An interesting, educational, and enjoyable look back at the bookselling days of 30 years ago. What was the norm, and how is the world of technology and the Internet changing the bookselling world of the rare, the used, and the hard to find books?

- Bet You Missed It 80

Pam Rose and her news sleuths have articles relating to, among other things, what do killer diseases and the Smithsonian have in common? Read about it in this issue.

INTERNATIONAL

- The Fire of Progress 82

Martin White tells us that the fire of progress is lit

by inspiration, fuelled by information, and sustained by hope and hard work. Join him as he looks back at more than thirty years of his career.

TECHNOLOGY AND STANDARDS

Edited by Sandra K. Paul and Albert Simmonds

- Chaos 83

World Acronyms Over the Years by Sandra K. Paul — This walk down memory lane takes us back to many acronyms in the world of standards that some of you will remember over the years.

- Webworthy 84

by Pamela Rose — Unique and interesting Websites organized by broad subject area. Some of this month's subjects include Antarctic, Evolution, Geoscience, and Medicinal Plants.

ETC.

- Adventures in Librarianship 40

Fee for Service by Ned Kraft — This month

Ned brings us a hilarious Memorandum that — let's hope — none of us ever actually gets.
