<th>Elminating Duplication in A Shared Storage Facility: Practical and Political Issues</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>by Joanne Oud: Recent years have seen an increase in the number of shared remote storage facilities being constructed as libraries facing space shortages see the value of sharing storage costs. As shared facilities become more common, the issue of how to deal with multiple copies is emerging as a concern in cooperative collection development.</td>

<tbody>
<tr>
<td>by Ana Arias Terry: The old saying that it’s a good policy not to bite the hand that feeds you applies in many contexts, including the academic and professional publishing arena. Simply put, it’s sound business to take care of the authors whose very research efforts and scholarly writing culminates in a journal owned by a publisher.</td>

Legally Speaking ..................... 71
Domain Names, Cybersquatting, and the ICANN System by Bryan M. Carson —
“What’s in a name? That which we call a rose by any other name would smell as sweet.” This column is about names. In these days of the Internet, domain names do make a big difference. Yet how much do we really think about the names that we enter to find Websites?

Questions and Answers .................. 74
Copyright Column by Laura Gasaway —
How does one deal with copyright on a photo taken before 1900?

PUBLISHING
And They Were There .................... 78
Report from the NASIG 2000 Conference by Fran Wilkinson.

Bestsellers on the Middle East .......... 82 by Françoise Crowell — The Middle East continues to dominate the news with the focus see-sawing from politics to religion, to democracy, to tyranny and, most often, to crisis. Do you have these books?

Serials Pricing Update .................. 84
The Real Cost and Price of EJournals by Marilyn Geller — If an electronic version of a printed journal is “free,” how much does it really cost?

Book Pricing Update .................... 85
Some Trends in Electronic Publishing by Tom Loughran — Now that we have been adding eBooks for over a year we can answer three questions: How many eBooks are there? How old are they? and What are all of these books about?

Sense and Sensibility ................... 86
by Margaret Landesman — What’s worriesome about “the Big Deal?”
