So What's "The Big Deal?"

YBP Library Services Delivers Publisher Packages to Library Consortia

Consortia and libraries have been pleased to find that YBP can both provide and integrate publisher packages into existing workflows, allowing them to benefit more fully from "The Big Deal."

In addition, YBP offers new technologies such as demand-driven acquisitions, as well as integrated print and e-book approval plans.

When your consortium or library is considering its next Big Deal, consider the benefits of:

- Fully-integrated control across all formats
- Duplication control
- Cataloging customized for e-content
- Integrated invoice control
- Integrated selection of format types across all publishers within the library and your consortium using GOBI³

Libraries are increasingly recognizing the value of the options and services YBP offers for digital content.

How does your library define the bottom line?

“I can honestly say if there is a problem I just call EBSCO.”

Susan Markley

- Susan Markley, Resource Management Team Leader
Falvey Memorial Library, Villanova University

Experience the EBSCO difference.

When there's an issue with e-resource access, every minute the problem goes unresolved is money down the drain. That's why Susan Markley depends on EBSCO.

With approximately 80 percent of the library's journal collection in electronic format, Susan knows all about access issues. But the difference with EBSCO, she says, is that she calls one person and doesn't have to worry further. No generic customer service desk. No endless transfers. Just a quick, friendly e-mail to her EBSCO representative.

New Journals Enhance AIP's Leadership in Applied Physics

AIP Partners with Chinese Society of Theoretical and Applied Mechanics

Freely

subscribers in 2011!

Already a prime source of applied physics research, AIP is now partnering with the Chinese Society of Theoretical and Applied Mechanics in the publication of CSTAM's newest journal — Theoretical and Applied Mechanics Letters (taml.aip.org). Published on behalf of CSTAM and hosted on AIP's Scitation platform, TAML will be an essential source of groundbreaking research for scientists worldwide in mechanics, as well as in a broad range of engineering-related fields.

AIP Advances – A Major New Innovation in Physical Science Publishing

AIP Advances (aipadvances.aip.org) is a rapid-publication, community-based, open access journal, focusing on research in applied physical science. Articles are published under a Creative Commons license, ensuring that authors retain copyright to their work, and hosting on AIP's robust Scitation hosting platform makes this work easily discoverable. An expedited peer review process, together with post-publication commenting by the entire science community, strikes an excellent balance between traditional review and the need for rapid dissemination.

Now published as an online-only journal by AIP, Journal of Laser Applications (jla.aip.org) is a major forum for exchanging ideas on the diverse, practical applications of photonic technology. JLA's comprehensive coverage makes it an important and vibrant resource for specialists in all areas of the laser industry, including: laser materials processing, biomedical applications, laser safety, and laser sensing & measurement. While JLA articles were only accessible as PDFs prior to 2011, AIP's Scitation platform now brings full online functionality to the journal.

PISA 2009 at a Glance

May 2011 | 978-9264-09522-9 | 92 pp

PISA assesses the extent to which students near the end of compulsory education have acquired some of the knowledge and skills that are essential for full participation in modern societies. Its triennial assessments of 15-year-olds focus on reading, mathematics and science.

PISA 2009 at a Glance provides easily accessible data on some of the main issues analysed in the full report:

- ✓ What students know and can do: How do students compare in the knowledge and skills they show at school? Which countries are the best performers? Which perform poorly?
- ✓ Overcoming social background: Does a student's socio-economic background affect his or her performance in school?
- ✓ Learning to learn: Are there some types of reading, and some ways of learning, that are better for students than others?
- ✓ What makes a school successful?: What traits do high-performing schools have in common?

Going for Growth 2011

May 2011 | 978-9264-09258-7 | 255 pp.

The global recovery from the deepest recession since the Great Depression is under way, but it remains overly dependent on macroeconomic policy stimulus and has not yet managed to significantly reduce high and persistent unemployment in many countries. Going for Growth 2011 highlights the structural reforms needed to restore long-term growth in the wake of the crisis. For each OECD country and six key emerging economies (Brazil, China, India, Indonesia, Russia and South Africa), five reform priorities are identified that would be most effective in delivering sustained growth over the next decade. The analysis shows that many of these reforms could also assist much-needed fiscal consolidation and contribute to reducing global current account imbalances.

Internationally comparable indicators enable countries to assess their economic performance and structural policies in a wide range of areas. There are also three analytical chapters covering housing policies, efficiency of health care systems and the links between structural policies and current account imbalances.

ANNOUNCEMENT

EconLit is Adding Economics Articles Published from 1886 to 1968!

www.aeaweb.org/econlit

The American Economic Association (AEA) has created EconLit records for journal articles indexed in Volumes 1–10 of the AEA's Index of Economic Journals. Many of these journals are now available in full text and may be linked to from EconLit if they are part of a library's holdings.

The EconLit records include complete bibliographic citations, subject descriptors and subject codes from the AEA's 1961–1968 classification system, geographic and regional descriptors, and named historical persons.

Later in 2011, EconLit will add records for articles from 1886–1968 collective works (edited volumes, conference proceedings, etc.). The American Economic Association will also match abstracts from the Journal of Economic Abstracts (1963–1968) and from the Journal of Economic Literature (1969–1986) to journal records.

The older records will become part of EconLit subscriptions at no extra cost.

Three Innovative Reference and Research Components ... All Combined into One Powerful Solution

Whether students are researching an assigned topic, learning to support an argument, writing a research paper, or prepping for class discussion and debate, ABC-CLIO's databases deliver a comprehensive solution.

Regularly updated reference entries, comprehensive lecture companions, and peer-reviewed articles by leading scholars provide sound analytical and critical thinking for students, and reflect ABC-CLIO's 50+ year award-winning publishing legacy.

1 Authoritative Reference from Leading Scholars

More than 60,000 primary sources—and entries written by leading scholars—including documents, audio, video, maps, images, facts and figures, and more.

2 Resources that Serve as Lecture Companions

Carefully curated resource collections—help students understand concepts, reinforcing ideas covered in lectures and in the textbook.

3 Scholarly Debate on Enduring Dilemmas

A growing collection of peer-reviewed journal articles commissioned by ABC-CLIO—encourage students to discover new models for academic-level analysis and explore diverse and often provocative viewpoints.

Continuations and Standing Orders

Preface

Continuations and standing orders represent a frustrating and time-consuming area of book acquisitions. Efficient management of continuations requires a staff knowledgeable in all aspects of standing order procedures, with prompt and accurate service being essential.

Midwest Library Service has been providing continuation and standing order programs to libraries for over three decades with the same commitment to high quality as our firm order service: prompt delivery, accurate invoicing, immediate reporting, convenient communications, and personal Library Service Representatives. Our reputation for excellence is well established and we invite you to place your continuations list with us.

Scope

Our Continuation & Standing Order Service encompasses most series and continuations from U.S. publishers. Our services do not include supplying magazines, journals, or loose-leaf updating services.

Procedure

Our Continuation & Standing Order Service incorporates both automated systems and personal surveillance. Instead of relying on the filing and ordering systems of the publishers, we place orders for specific volumes as books are due to be published. If the next item in a series is not received when scheduled, we initiate a new order for the same item. This procedure helps avoid potentially missed volumes and eliminates any dependence upon the publishers' fulfillment systems. If in-house information is not available on future volumes to be published, we call the publisher for future projections and publication schedules. This information is then used to update our new title records.

Advantages

1. Because of our method of ordering specific volumes, we are in regular communication with the publishers.
2. Our status reports are prompt and accurate and should eliminate library claims.
3. Specific claims from an individual library resulting in an updated status report will generate new status reports to all libraries ordering the same series.
4. We do not drop ship.

Quality service depends on good communications between the library and the jobber. Your personal Library Service Representative and our convenient communications provide easy access to us regarding your continuation orders. We invite you to try our service by sending us your next list of standing order titles.
