From Your (weathering the storm) Editor:

Hmm. So many people expect it to be warm year-round in Charleston. Come again. It gets cold down here! Okay, cold for us. Temperatures have been as low as 19 degrees Fahrenheit. And that’s cold in most anybody’s book, right? Plus we have had non-stop rain for the six weeks just after the Charleston Conference ended. Whew!

This issue is a stellar one. Bob Nardini has put together papers on the topic of Library Publishing and University Press Publishing: Then and Now. Authors include has put together papers on the topic of Library Publishing and University Press Publishing: Then and Now. Authors include

Our interviews are with Audrey Powers, Peter Shepherd and Stanley Wilder. I am sad to report that Tony Ferguson is retiring from Back Talk with this issue. (But he has written a doozy of a Back Talk about Library School and the union card in his latest column. Erin Gallagher has a special report on Polling during the 2014 Charleston Conference, in Elizabeth Lightfoot’s Luminaries column Robert Boissy, Valerie Boulou, Jill Emery, and Celeste Feather comment on Open Access. Glenda Alvin talks about frienemies,

Mark Herrig about the cost of a college education, Bruce Strauch on writers in Hollywood, and Bob Kieft tells us about monographic shared print in the corn belt. And, of course, there is lots more I haven’t mentioned here, so get comfortable in your favorite chair and read on.

Well, the sun is out and the temperature is 43 so we are going outside to take a walk around all the puddles.

Happy New Year, y’all. Love, Yr. Ed.

Dear Editor:

I really enjoyed the Charleston Conference. It’s my favorite conference to attend, and I’m already looking forward to next year.

Dear Editor:

It was a wonderful conference as always, and we thank you and your colleagues for all your work and for having the good fortune to be located in such a pleasant place. I hope you all have had a chance to rest up after the very hectic few days of all those visiting librarians and vendors and that you enjoy a peaceful and happy Thanksgiving just around the corner.

Best regards,

Robert Robbins, Representative

PS — Rhonda will contribute a chapter to the upcoming Ebooks in Academic Libraries: Stepping Up to the Challenge, edited by Robert S. Freeman, Suzanne M. Ward and Judith M. Nixon, representing the perspective of a commercial publisher. This title is to be published in 2015 by Purdue University Press’ Charleston Insights in Library, Archival, and Information Sciences series that has a long-time collaboration with the Charleston Conference! http://www.thepress.purdue.edu/series/charleston-insights-library-archival-and-information-sciences

Just read that the energetically focused Beth Blakesley, associate dean of libraries at Washington State University, is the new editor-in-chief of the Journal of Academic Librarianship (JAL), one of the top publications in the academic libraries field.

Moving right along, Holtzbrinck Publishing Group and BC Partners have announced an agreement to merge the majority of Macmillan Science and Education with Springer Science+Business Media (owned by funds advised by BCP) in its entirety with the majority of Holtzbrinck-owned Macmillan Science and Education (MSE), namely Nature Publishing Group, Palgrave Macmillan and the global businesses of Macmillan Education. The joint venture will create a leading publish-
