FEATURES

How Libraries Can Lead: An Introduction to Affordable Learning for Libraries and Publishers — Guest Editor, Gwen Evans

How Libraries Can Lead: An Introduction to Affordable Learning for Libraries and Publishers 1

by Gwen Evans — This issue presents a variety of perspectives on textbooks and affordable learning.

Passion for Academic Freedom..... 14

by Dan E. Krane — Despite assertions to the contrary, it has been possible to dramatically reduce textbook costs in a relatively short time frame.

Answering the Question of Affordability 16

by Bob Butterfield — The bottom line for affordability is that everything is on the table. We are dedicated to continually searching for new ways to keep the cost of curricular content at the lowest possible point.

Ohio: The State of Affordable Learning..... 17

How State Academic Library Consortium OhioLINK Took the Lead, Securing Inclusive Access Price Agreements Directly with Commercial Textbook Publishers by Gwen Evans — OhioLINK recently negotiated state-wide pricing agreements with six major textbook publishers and embarked upon an ambitious information campaign centering on the inclusive access, or first day, model of digital textbooks.

Librarians Provide a New Gateway to Savings for Students 20

by Jennifer Becker — We conducted a large study that showed that students who had their course materials on the first day of class maintained class averages some 20 points higher than those who bought them two weeks later.

No Limitations on the Use of eBooks: A Bold Move by Springer Nature 21

by Wouter van der Velde — Students should be able to download a textbook to their device or print it out to use it for their study, wherever, whenever.

An Idea of Openness 22

by Dean John Smith — We believe that what has been called “the low-use monograph” was simply undiscoverable and inaccessible. Open or not, our digital monographs are being used around the world.

A System-wide OER Initiative: The SUNY OER Initiative..... 24

by Mark McBride — The 5Rs (Retain, Reuse, Revise, Remix, Redistribute) are what make OER a powerful innovation.

Beyond Affordability 25

by Mark Cummings — If the goal is to promote OER as part of a larger educational program, and not merely as an affordable alternative to commercial products, we must do a better job demonstrating the possibilities such resources provide.

Op Ed — Random Ramblings 26

Confessions of an Open Access Heretic by Bob Holley — Based on Bob's Library Trends upcoming article, he concludes that academic libraries had not benefitted from open access and that they should worry about the unintended consequences of its success.

Back Talk 70

Lessons Learned at the Cupcake Store by Ann Okerson — Ann talks about an annual sacred pilgrimage while she was in Charleston for the conference.
