Resolution on support for the development and dissemination of Scholarly Journals in Electronic Format by the Higher Education Community.

Whereas the cost of producing and distributing scholarly publications has climbed dramatically over the past two decades; and

Whereas the increasing concentration of publishers threatens competition and the foreign ownership of scholarly journals imperils price stability; and

Whereas the ownership of scholarly materials by the higher education community will allow more direct involvement with production, distribution, pricing and equitable access;

Herefore, Be it Resolved That:

The White House Conference on Library and Information Services (WHCLIS) support the publication of scholarly journals in electronic form by higher education institutions; and be it further resolved that

The WHCLIS support the evolving National Research and Education Network (NREN) as a means to coordinate electronic publishing and to enhance access to the nation's information resources.
