Letters to the Editor

Katina Strauch
Against the Grain

Follow this and additional works at: http://docs.lib.purdue.edu/atg

Part of the Library and Information Science Commons

Recommended Citation
DOI: https://doi.org/10.7771/2380-176X.1363

This document has been made available through Purdue e-Pubs, a service of the Purdue University Libraries. Please contact epubs@purdue.edu for additional information.
Dear Editor:

Thanks so much for the issues of Against the Grain which include information on Richard Abel & Company. I plan to pass the stories along to my old boss from Abel, Donald Petty, who has now retired in England. I worked for Richard Abel twice between 1969 and 1974. The first time, I worked in their catalog card department and the second time I worked in marketing for Richard Abel Bookseller servicing orders from individuals. My husband, John, also worked for Richard Abel & Company.

We always felt we were doing groundbreaking work at Abel and there was a strong sense of mission. There was also an extraordinary collection of people — young, bright, international — and a spirit that has kept many of us in touch with each other over the years.

Against the Grain is a very good newsletter and sorely needed. Over the years, I have worked for a library, booksellers, and many publishers and find they have a hard time talking each other’s language. I’m sure you are helping to improve communications and I commend you for it.

Best of luck with your publication and let me know if there is anything I can do to help.

Sincerely yours,
Rea A. Christoffersson
(Hoboken, NJ)

Dear Editor:

Hi, Ed,

How are you?

I think of you whenever I receive Against the Grain. Sometimes I think it’s my only link to the world of Acquisitions. Have you seen the two-part article about “Geoscience Literature Pricing” in GSA Today? Loved your interview with Connie May Fowler — I didn’t know that she lives in St. Augustine.

I also liked the Algonquin piece a lot. I have a poster from Out on the Porch on my office wall. Algonquin authors are some of my favorite writers. It’s amazing to think that John Barth had trouble getting published originally…

Pan Cenzer
(University of Florida)

Dear Editor:

Hi. I wanted you to know that I really like the paper in the February issue of Against the Grain. It seemed easier to read.

Marsha S. Clark
(New York Academy of Medicine Library)

Note from your Editor — When I received my copies of the February issues of Against the Grain I expected trouble. I thought that the issues would not hold up to the mailing and that I would get a lot of complaints about it. I resolved not to use that paper again. It was more expensive than the earlier paper even. Then, I got this note from Marsha and was heartened. Maybe the paper was all right after all. But — hark again — I was talking to Nat Bodian the other night and he told me that his copy of the February issue of ATG arrived in bad order. He said the pages were all crinkled up and it looked horrible even though the content was splendidly fabulous. He suggested that I change the paper. So — I need to hear from more of you all! How do your issues come? Do you like one paper better than another? HELP! • Yr. Ed. ⚜

Deadlines for 1993
(can you believe it?)

Courtesy of Edna Laughrey (Laughrey Associates) and Ads Manager for ATG !!

Issue #  Month  Deadline
3   Jun.  May 19
4   Sep.  Aug 11
5   Nov.  Sep 29

Against the Grain (ISSN 1043-2094) is published five times a year in February, April, June, September, and November by Against the Grain, Citadel Station, Charleston, SC 29409. Subscription price per year is $25.00 (U.S.) $35.00 (foreign for five issues).

Authors’ opinions are to be regarded as their own. All rights reserved. Printed in the United States of America. This issue was produced on a Macintosh Ici and Apple Two Page Monochrome Monotype and a Macintosh Quadra 700 using RealTech Laser, Laserwriter NTX, LaserMax, and LaserMaster printers, Microsoft Word, CoreDraw 3.0, ATM 2.0 and PageMaker 4.0 software under Microsoft Windows 3.1.

Against the Grain is copyright © 1993 by Katina Strach.