IATUL Special Interest Group for Information Literacy

The IATUL Special Interest Group for Information Literacy (SIG IL) promotes collaboration and sharing of best practices among IATUL members in the area of information literacy. In accordance with IATUL's organizational profile and the focus of the special interest group is on methods and practices specific to an academic environment.

SIG IL was founded in 2012 and provides a platform to share IL-related experience, documents and news for its members and others interested in the subject. Another main goal is to contribute to IATUL’s service portfolio to support other member libraries. Therefore group members work on joint projects. They meet and present their work on the Annual IATUL conference.
