Subscribe to any AIP journal in 1997 or 1998 and you’ll get access to a powerful online edition of that journal, at no additional charge. It’s that easy. With the Online Journal Service (OJS), you’ll receive your Web version up to three weeks prior to print publication. It’s that fast.

The latest development that makes OJS more than just a digital equivalent of a print publication is a feature called “reference linking.” Available first with Applied Physics Letters Online and JETP Letters Online, reference linking lets you click on article citations, and link to the referenced article’s abstract in the SPIN or INSPEC databases. Such hyperlinks will let you exploit the real value of online journals for the first time.

Reference linking is just one part of a package of significant enhancements we’re now working on for the Online Journal Service. This upgrade, called Version 1.5, has been released for APL Online and JETPL Online and will be available on all OJS journals by January 1998.

Key features you’ll enjoy with Version 1.5 include:

► Reference linking to both SPIN and INSPEC databases—You can follow a reference link to any of nearly 80 journals in SPIN or—by special arrangement between AIP and INSPEC—to any of the more than 4,000 journals in INSPEC for records back to 1969.

► Ten more years of SPIN—Providing the search engine for OJS, SPIN had originally included digital records from 1985 to the present. Now you can access SPIN records from 1975 forward.

► New download options—Along with PDF (Portable Document Format) documents, you will now have the option of downloading and printing full-text PostScript files for each article available in OJS.

► Additional links—"See also" links will provide you with access to such related information as errata, multi-part papers, reader comments, and author responses to comments.

The AIP Online Journal Service includes PINET Plus, your gateway to SPIN and to Advance SPIN, which enables you to search abstracts from AIP, APS, OSA and other Member Society journals prior to publication. PINET Plus also gives you tables of contents for AIP and Member Society journals, news and information from national labs and science policy agencies, integrated, searchable directories from leading science organizations, and more.

The Complete Reference Source for All Aspects of Environmental Science

ENCYCLOPEDIA OF ENVIRONMENTAL ANALYSIS AND REMEDIATION
8-VOLUME SET
Edited by
Robert A. Meyers, Ph.D., Ramtech, Inc., Tarzana, CA

With the growing concern over the environment, new industries and research areas have been developed to identify, monitor, and regulate environmental interactions as well as to determine and repair existing environmental damages. For both the expert and the newcomer, a quick, convenient, and comprehensive source is needed to answer questions on the rapidly increasing amount of environmental information. The Encyclopedia of Environmental Analysis and Remediation (EEAR), the newest work in the Wiley Encyclopedia Series on Environmental Science, responds to this need by providing its user with an in-depth examination of the entire environment in an A-to-Z eight-volume reference source.

Featuring extensive illustrations and references, this eight-volume encyclopedia covers all aspects of environmental analysis and remediation, discussing both manmade and natural environmental issues as well as associated aspects of engineering, legislative, and economic issues. Consisting of over 250 carefully reviewed, alphabetically arranged, up-to-date articles written by authorities in that particular area, this unique reference work is a convenient, extensive, and current guide to today and tomorrow's most relevant environmental topics, including: Air Pollution Control * Environmental Law and Regulation * Environmental Sampling and Analysis * Hazardous Waste Remediation * Pollution in the Biosphere * Water Reclamation

G. Ertl, Department of Physical Chemistry, Fritz-Haber-Institute, Berlin, Germany
H. Knözinger, Department of Physical Chemistry, University of Munich, Germany
J. Weitkamp, Institute of Chemical Technology, University of Stuttgart, Germany

Heterogeneous catalysis has become the basis of industrial and environmental chemistry. It is truly an interdisciplinary topic whose fundamentals are based on solid state and materials chemistry, surface science, analytical chemistry, quantum chemistry, and reaction engineering. The Handbook of Heterogeneous Catalysis is the first comprehensive treatment of heterogeneous catalysis. The 5-volume set presents the available knowledge on this subject and provides the user with easy-to-find, in-depth information on all aspects of heterogeneous catalysis from physico-chemical foundations to large-scale industrial applications.

The handbook begins with an outline of the basic principles of heterogeneous catalysis and a historical overview, followed by extended chapters on preparation and characterization of solid catalysts, catalysts, catalytic model systems, elementary steps and mechanisms, kinetics and transport processes, deactivation and regeneration, laboratory reactors and reaction engineering. The remaining sections are structured according to classes of catalytic processes and deals with environmental catalysis, inorganic reactions, energy-related catalysis, and organic reactions.

With its detailed coverage, straightforward presentation, and highly topical contributions, the Handbook of Heterogeneous Catalysis is an indispensable tool for everyone working in academic or industrial application of heterogeneous catalysis.

Available through your vendor.

The Image Directory is the first database of art images gathered from museums and collections around the world. A comprehensive online visual resource of accurate, up-to-the-minute, and authoritative information, this unique reference will be essential for anyone who holds or uses art images, including:

- Museum professionals
- Libraries
- Students
- Galleries and auction houses
- Publishers
- Stock photo houses
- Advertising and public relations agencies
- Artists and filmmakers
- Architects and graphic designers
- College and university professors
- The computer, fashion, and film industries

With 60,000 records to date, the Image Directory is expected to contain more than 100,000 by its final launch this Fall. Among the first institutions to become image providers are The Museum of Modern Art, The Brooklyn Museum, and the Chicago Architecture Foundation, as well as a number of European museums. The online site, currently under development, can be previewed at www.imagedir.com.

The full spectrum of the arts will be represented, including painting, sculpture, architecture, textiles, photography, ethnographic objects, engravings, decorative objects, and toys. Many entries will be accompanied by low-resolution images, provided by the Image Directory's network of participating museums, libraries, societies, and other institutions.

Several outstanding features will help image users develop search strategies that save time, conserve resources, and provide the precise information they need. Immediate orders for images can be placed directly through the database. Users will have instant access to:

- Data on each artwork, including artist, title, date, dimensions, materials, and provenance
- Rights and reproduction information and licensing fees
- A link to the image provider's Web site
- Daily updates to information
- Two valuable search tools—the Getty Information Institute's Union List of Artist Names® and Art and Architecture Thesaurus®

The Image Directory enables image owners to bring information about their holdings to the attention of a vast audience, and organizes all data into a single, accessible reference source. It holds non-exclusive rights to images—image holders will retain complete control of their images and information. Academic Press works with both electronic and print media submissions, and sells access to the directory through site licenses, by time, and by search.

Whether you are looking for images, or wish to publicize or sell copies from your collection, the Image Directory will be your source. The database will be completed by fall of 1997, and a print version will be published in 1998.

18 REASONS more libraries choose Bowker's BOOKS IN PRINT®

An independent research firm conducting a national survey recently discovered that more libraries use the BOOKS IN PRINT family than any other source of book information.

Here are the top 18 reasons why:

1. You can serve patrons better.
   - With BOOKS IN PRINT on CD, you can find any title, even if you have only fragmented information—a word from the title, the subject, the illustrator.
   - You can easily create bibliographies for patrons on demand.
   - You can describe titles to patrons since BOOKS IN PRINT products contain tens of thousands of annotations.

2. You can even read reviews to patrons, since BOOKS IN PRINT WITH BOOK REVIEWS gives you 265,000 full-text reviews from sources such as Library Journal, School Library Journal and Publishers Weekly.

3. Plus, BOOKS IN PRINT is so easy to use that patrons can help themselves—freeing library staff for other tasks.

4. It's available in more formats.
   - Enjoy the speed and ease of BOOKS IN PRINT products on CD for Windows, MS-DOS and Macintosh.
   - Access our databases via site license or online through leading library vendors such as Ameritech, CARL, DRA, EBSCO, IAC, Innovative Interfaces, Knight-Ridder (DIALOG®), Lexis®, Nexis®, OCLC, OVID, and SilverPlatter.
   - Or choose the traditional reference books that have been a mainstay of reference sections for fifty years.

5. It's great for collection development.
   - Titles forthcoming in 1-12 months or more are flagged to help you locate new titles that fit your collection.

6. It simplifies everyday processes.
   - Speed through the verification process with fast access to ISBNs, titles, prices, authors, contributor information, and more.
   - Automatically print POs, cataloging records or electronic orders without re-typing.
   - Simplify record-keeping by downloading information directly into your word processing programs.

7. Save ordering data in a format 25 vendors will accept...not just Baker & Taylor.

8. Verify titles registered with the Copyright Clearance Center.

Plus, we've recently introduced...

9. The addition of audio and video titles to BOOKS IN PRINT and BOOKS IN PRINT WITH BOOK REVIEWS on CD.

10. Books IN PRINT, JUST IN TIME—a new program that lets you choose a CD update schedule that meets your information needs...and your budget.

11. The inclusion of the entire BOOKS OUT-OF-PRINT database on BOOKS IN PRINT WITH BOOK REVIEWS on CD.

12. A new multi-user pricing structure that economically gives access to BOOKS IN PRINT and BOOKS IN PRINT WITH BOOK REVIEWS to everyone on your staff who needs it.
