The Twenty-Seventh Annual Purdue Road School was a record-breaker in several ways. The official total registration of 1,231 exceeded last year's record attendance by 58. Several of the co-operating groups exceeded all previous attendance records, including the State Highway Commission, County Road Employees, County Commissioners, and City Officials.

Judging from comments received from many sources, the general and separate session programs, the entertainment features, and the general spirit of co-operation and interest indicate that this was probably our most successful Road School.

Eliminating the materials and equipment men, for whom no record was kept as to the particular day on which they registered, the accumulative registration on a percentage basis at the end of each day of the Road School was as follows:

Eliminating the Materials and Equipment Men and the Miscellaneous group, we still had a total of 933 officials and employees representing contractor's organizations and city, county, and state governments. Students, except graduate students connected with the Joint Highway Research Project, are not registered at this Road School; neither do we register the general public in attendance at the Road Show or at the

* In 1933 the office of county road superintendent was abolished by the state legislature and the county commissioners were given the option of appointing a county road supervisor to have charge of county roads or of placing the county surveyor in charge. For 1941, road supervisors have been appointed in 78 counties.
group entertainment sessions on Tuesday and Wednesday nights.

There were about 150 men at the smoker Monday night and 365 at the banquet on Thursday night.

The Highway Materials and Equipment Association sponsored one of its best Road Shows in the Purdue Armory as a supplement to the Road School. This attracted a total of 40 exhibitors. After the Road School, the officials of this association voted to contribute an additional $100 to the Purdue Student Loan Fund established in their name, which now totals over $1,200.

It was agreed that the City Engineers’ Association should join with the other co-operating groups in this annual Road School.
