AGA N T S T H E GRA I N

TABLE OF CONTENTS

v.21 #1 February 2009 © Katina Strauch

ISSUES, NEWS, & GOINGS ON

Rumors........................................ 1  Letters to the Editor......................... 6
From Your Editor.......................... 6  Deadlines................................. 6

FEATURES

Taking Charge: Preserving Our Digital Heritage Part I
Guest Editor, Amy Kohrman

Taking Charge: Preserving Our Digital Heritage Part I ............... 1
by Amy Kohrman — This is the first of two ATG issues in which all the participants have the firm desire to ensure the survival of e-content for future generations.

Triumphing Over Chance: The Case for CLOCKSS ................. 18
by Vic Elliott — Vic turns to H.L. Mencken, Jacques Derrida, and Thomas Jefferson to solve the digital preservation enigma.

“Long Live the Corpse!” At-Risk Open-Access Humanities Journals in LOCKSS .................. 22
by Glen Worthy — As it happens, digital content in the humanities often carries with it the particular danger of economic instability.

Springer’s eBook Preservation Strategy ......................... 28
by Heather Ruland Staines — This article is meant to provide an overview of Springer’s participation in major digital preservation initiatives and to explore some of the technical and legal issues that surround preservation of ebook content.

Tracking E-journal Preservation: Archiving Registry Service Anyone?... 32
by Peter Burnhill — The idea for a registry of archived scholarly publications has featured in various digital preservation and archiving discussions. Here’s a chance to learn more and to give your input in the discussions.

MetaArchive: A Cooperative Approach to Distributed Digital Preservation .......................... 36
by Katherine Skinner and Martin Halbert — What role will the Library take in digital preservation?

Distributed Globally, Collected Locally: LOCKSS for Digital Government Information .......... 42
by Daniel Cornwall and James R. Jacobs — This one’s about access to digital government information.

The Alabama Digital Preservation Network (ADPNet) ........ 46
by Aaron Trehub — The first working statewide Private LOCKSS Network (PLN) in the United States, ADPNet shows the value of this kind of approach in the face of natural disasters.

Op Ed — IMHBCO .................................. 48
What’s Your Problem? (And What’s Mine?) by Rick Anderson — The cruel reality is that Google Book Search’s profit motive, less-than-perfect completeness, and lack of organized metadata are of little concern to our patrons. They are mainly of concern to us, as librarians.

Back Talk ....................................... 94
Open Access, the Turning Point, and Methadone by Tony Ferguson — Is OA about to hit its turning point in academic publishing?

ATG INTERVIEWS

Dennis Dillon .................................... 50
Associate Director for Research Services, University of Texas Libraries

Rich Rosy ................................. 50
Vice President and General Manager, Ingram Digital

Sameer Shariff .................................. 54
CEO, Impelsys

PROFILES ENCOURAGED

Vic Elliott .................................... 20
Daniel Cornwall ................................. 43

Glen Worthy .................................. 24
James R. Jacobs ................................. 44

Heather Ruland Staines .................... 30
Aaron Trehub ................................. 47

Peter Burnhill .................................. 34
Dennis Dillon .................................. 51

Katherine Skinner ............................... 38
Rich Rosy ......................................... 52

Martin Halbert ................................. 38
Sameer Shariff .................................. 55

<http://www.against-the-grain.com>
ANNUAL REPORT, ACRL ISSUE

REVIEWS

From the Reference Desk ..................... 56
Reviews of Reference Titles by Tom Gilson
— This month one of Tom’s selections include the Greenwood Encyclopedia of Love, Courtship, and Sexuality through History.

LEGAL ISSUES

Edited by Bryan Carson, Bruce Strauch, and Jack Montgomery

Legally Speaking ................................... 59
The Legality of Open Source Software Part II:
Jacobson v. Katzer by Bryan Carson — The discussion on Open Source Software continued.

Questions and Answers ..................... 61 Copyright Column by Laura Gasaway — Does a reprint ever get a new copyright? Answers to this and many other questions from Lolly.

PUBLISHING

Booklover ........................................ 55
Blindness by Donna Jacobs — More about Donna’s frequent treasure hunts for the masterpieces on her Nobelist literature list.

Biz of Acq .................................... 63
Shooting the Rapids – Navigating Changing Video Formats by Sebastian Derry — Blu-ray and HD-DVD have battled for marke-place supremacy and the hearts and minds of consumers everywhere. Have video-related developments left you wondering what the implications might be for your library and its video collection?

And They Were There ...................... 64
2008 Charleston Conference Reports — Compiled by Ramune Kubilius and her crack team of reporters. The first installment of reports is here, and more are coming, so keep reading!

BOOKSELLING

Bet You Missed It ..................... 12
Press Clippings – In the News by Bruce Strauch
— What do landmark trials and big bucks from the Web have in common? Read it here.

Notes from Mosi ..................... 14
Opportunities and Risks by Scott Smith
— This one’s about change and the opportunities and challenges involved.

Something to Think About ........ 58
Sometimes I Wonder? by Mary (Tinker)
Massey — Tinker wonders if the growing technology in this world has stricken us with a non-communicative group of young adults.

Future Tense ........................ 75 Doing What’s Obvious: Library Space and the Fat Smoker by Rick Lugg and Ruth Fischer — This one’s about space and crowding in today’s library.

ISSUES IN VENDOR/LIBRARY RELATIONS .. 77
Out of Office by Bob Nardini — In his inimitable way, Bob tells us why being out of the office at meetings and conferences can be fulfilling.

AND VENDING

From the University Presses ............. 69
The Google Settlement: Boon, Boondoggle, or Mixed Blessing? by Sanford G. Thatcher
— This is a question that is on all of our minds.

Sandy’s review of the views to date is very thorough and enlightening.

Random Ramblings .................... 73
Barriers in Higher Education to Open Access and Institutional Repositories by Bob Holley — In the legitimate push to change
the mechanisms for distributing faculty research, librarians underestimated the complicity of higher education in the current scholarly communication system?

cases of Note — Copyright .......... 62
When Copyright Infringement Means Go To Jail by Bruce Strauch — United States of America v. Muza Kim, a.k.a. Gyu Young Kim.
Hey hey hey! You should check this out.

Unconventional ...

ATG is published six times a year,
in February, April, June, September,
November, and December/January.
A six issue subscription is available for only $50 U.S. ($60 Canada, $85 foreign), making it an uncommonly good buy for all that it covers.
Make checks payable to Against the Grain, LLC and mail to:

Katina Strauch
209 Richardson Avenue
MSC 98, The Citadel
Charleston, SC 29409

Uncommon ...

Against the Grain is your key to the latest news about libraries, publishers, book jobbers, and subscription agents. ATG is a unique collection of reports on the issues, literature, and people that impact the world of books, journals, and electronic information.

This one’s about change and the opportunities and risks involved.

To License or not to License? SERU’s the Question by John Cox — The dying gasps of the last century saw the first moves to some form of standardization of license terms.

Little Red Herrings ................... 81
Not with a Bang by Mark Y. Herring — Some prominent aspects of the Google Book Search Deal and what it may mean for libraries.

Papa Abel Remembers ................. 82
The Tale of a Band of Booksellers, Fascicle 8:
The Birth of the Approval Plan by Richard Abel — After several months of experimenting and refining the Approval Plan system, we were ready in the summer of 1964 to take the Plan out to a few other libraries.

Lost in Austin .......................... 84
In a Second-hand Bookshop by Thomas W.
Leonhardt — In this issue, Tom tells of his travels through Texas in search of rare book rooms and second-hand bookshops.
I t's only the first of the year and I have lost my glasses three times! I need my glasses and when they disappear, I have to squat to reading anything up close and don't have much luck with identifying far-away things. You see, it all started when I decided to switch pocketbooks. I needed a larger bag to carry on the airplane so I didn’t have to check my luggage. Fine enough, but when I got back home, I switched bags again and that's when it all began. Returning to work the next day, I picked up my bag, pulled out my glasses case, and voila, the case was empty! Needless to say it was a headache, squinty day. When I got home, I had another pair of earlier-prescription glasses that allowed me to work unimpeded on ATG, February. Whew!

And this is another great issue! Amy Kohrman of LOCKSS has put together a timely and important February ATG on preserving our digital heritage. In all the hoopla of the digital world, we are canceling tried-and-true print publications which could stay on the shelves indefinitely for the electronic editions. We all know why this is, but will the electronic versions survive for as long as the print versions would have? Amy and her team have put together a collection of papers about these issues. Included are papers from Vic Elliott (LOCKSS), Glen Worthy (LOCKSS), Heather Rudland Staines (Springer), Peter Burnhill (archiving registry service), Katherine Skinner and Martin Halbert (metarchive), Daniel Cormwall and James R., Jacobs (government information), and Aaron Trehub (Alabama digital preservation network). And there’s more to come in the next (April) ATG issue!

This issue is so packed full of fabulous articles that we've had to replace our conference rounds with a continuation of our table of contents. But they'll be back next issue. Stay tuned.

Excuse me. My assistant seems to have located my sunglasses which I had misplaced as well. You see, I was using them instead of my regular glasses. I have decided that she is psychic!

Love, Yr. Ed.

Rumors from page 1

millions of items, which are viewed by more than a million visitors each year.

According to LJN Dawson (2/4/09), Amazon has announced that it will release Version 2.0 of the Kindle on Monday, February 9. And The Boy Genius Report has some information about the design of the new product. It’s a little bigger and has gotten rid of the buttons that caused you to flip to the next page. But it’s still pricey!
http://www.ljndawson.com/
http://www.boygeniusreport.com/2008/10/03/amazon-kindle-2-ebooks-its-way-to-bgr/

And just got a column from the incredible Michael Pelikan <mp10@psu.edu> about Kindle 2.0. He says he was waiting for the release which occurred just a few days ago! Michael prefers the Sony Reader to the Kindle, at least that’s what it seemed like to me. See this issue, p.8

And Todd Rix <trix@coker.edu> (Electronic Resources and Bibliographic Instruction)
continued on page 14

From Your (glasses-challenged) Editor:

I't's only the first of the year and I have lost my glasses three times! I need my glasses and when they disappear, I have to squat to reading anything up close and don’t have much luck with identifying far-away things. You see, it all started when I decided to switch pocketbooks. I needed a larger bag to carry on the airplane so I didn’t have to check my luggage. Fine enough, but when I got back home, I switched bags again and that's when it all began. Returning to work the next day, I picked up my bag, pulled out my glasses case, and voila, the case was empty! Needless to say it was a headache, squinty day. When I got home, I had another pair of earlier-prescription glasses that allowed me to work unimpeded on ATG, February. Whew!

And this is another great issue! Amy Kohrman of LOCKSS has put together a timely and important February ATG on preserving our digital heritage. In all the hoopla of the digital world, we are canceling tried-and-true print publications which could stay on the shelves indefinitely for the electronic editions. We all know why this is, but will the electronic versions survive for as long as the print versions would have? Amy and her team have put together a collection of papers about these issues. Included are papers from Vic Elliott (LOCKSS), Glen Worthy (LOCKSS), Heather Rudland Staines (Springer), Peter Burnhill (archiving registry service), Katherine Skinner and Martin Halbert (metarchive), Daniel Cormwall and James R., Jacobs (government information), and Aaron Trehub (Alabama digital preservation network). And there’s more to come in the next (April) ATG issue!

This issue is so packed full of fabulous articles that we've had to replace our conference rounds with a continuation of our table of contents. But they'll be back next issue. Stay tuned.

Excuse me. My assistant seems to have located my sunglasses which I had misplaced as well. You see, I was using them instead of my regular glasses. I have decided that she is psychic!

Love, Yr. Ed.

Rumors from page 1

millions of items, which are viewed by more than a million visitors each year.

According to LJN Dawson (2/4/09), Amazon has announced that it will release Version 2.0 of the Kindle on Monday, February 9. And The Boy Genius Report has some information about the design of the new product. It’s a little bigger and has gotten rid of the buttons that caused you to flip to the next page. But it’s still pricey!
http://www.ljndawson.com/
http://www.boygeniusreport.com/2008/10/03/amazon-kindle-2-ebooks-its-way-to-bgr/

And just got a column from the incredible Michael Pelikan <mp10@psu.edu> about Kindle 2.0. He says he was waiting for the release which occurred just a few days ago! Michael prefers the Sony Reader to the Kindle, at least that’s what it seemed like to me. See this issue, p.8

And Todd Rix <trix@coker.edu> (Electronic Resources and Bibliographic Instruction)
continued on page 14