 Would you like to increase circulation by 45%?

Would you like to increase access up to 600% without adding one more book to your collection?

Then Blackwell’s Tables of Contents service is for you! Studies have shown that adding tables of contents to your catalog records can achieve these remarkable results.

Dust jacket summaries and author affiliations can be added to your MaRC record along with content notes — all for the same price and for less than you could key them.

If you would like to know more about Blackwell’s Tables of Contents service, contact Marylou Colver at the address below.

Electronic searching sometimes results in information overload.

But Books In Print makes it easy to find the exact titles you need.

It seems simple enough. You enter a keyword or two, and suddenly you’re rewarded with more search results than you could possibly handle—especially if a customer is waiting.

That’s why Books In Print on Disc was designed to help you avoid information overload, in part because it offers three search modes and an extensive subject index.

1. Browse mode lets you scan 15 alphanumeric indexes, so it’s perfect for answering simple questions.

2. A fill-in-the-form mode lets you combine up to 8 search criteria—so you can narrow down your search to titles that fit your customers’ needs.

3. And an expert search mode that lets you easily perform complex searches (you could even include up to 20 criteria into one search).

Better still, Books In Print contains a subject index of over 65,000 topics arranged alphabetically—so you can include very defined criteria in your searches.

To order a CD or web bibliographic resource with searching capabilities that returns the titles you really need, call:

So good, GOBI knows...

- which approval titles were not supplied to your library
- which approval books you returned
- which books are not yet published

Plus, better collection management tools...

- allowing call-number range searches
- allowing search results to be sorted in LC or Dewey call-number order
- posting full bibliographic descriptions for profiled titles, including all non-subject parameters and interdisciplinary aspects

Enhanced approval plan activity reports...

- sorted by imprint, non-subject parameters, NLM, level, and series ID
- for specific call ranges
- comparing two date ranges
- including or excluding UP and Trade titles
- including or excluding readership levels
- presenting a column in all AP reports for “YBP New Titles Profiled”

And, faster ordering...

- by allowing batch processing for express firm orders
- by offering a [New Search] button on confirmation screens that returns you immediately to the search screen you were using

GOBI™ (Global Online Bibliographic Information), YBP Library Services’ online, interactive database, acquisitions, and collection management tool, provides access to over 2 million titles.

To learn more about GOBI, GobiLink, GobiSelect, GobiSmart, GobiTwee, and other YBP services, visit our web page at http://www.ybp.com or call us at (800) 258-3774.

When you call to place an order,
Ellen promises service with a smile.
(Even if you can't see it.)

Ellen has been helping our customers place their orders for over 10 years. She even knows many of them just by the sound of their voices. Like the rest of us at Emery-Pratt, she enjoys getting to know customers and helping them anyway she can. She answers questions about new books, helps them locate hard-to-find titles, and writes up every order to the customer's exact specifications. And once, when a long-time customer from Virginia jokingly asked Ellen to send her some Michigan snow, Ellen put paper shreds in an envelope marked "snow seeds" and dropped them in her shipment of books (no extra charge).

Call us today. We'll help you anyway we can.

Mergers and Acquisitions 101

Back to School!? Again??

It's simply a fact. Mergers can have a profound effect on your acquisition department. Many things can change — pricing structures, the people you normally deal with, the ordering process. It can be as confusing as your first day on campus.

Since 1962, the Book House has maintained steady and solid growth by expanding on superior service and a solid foundation.

So, if you don't want to "start over" or if you don't have time to "wait and see if you like the new instructor," call the Book House — where it's business as usual.

AIP Links with ISI
AIP and the Institute for Scientific Information® (ISI®) have implemented bi-directional links between AIP's online journals and ISI's Web of Science®. Web of Science provides sophisticated online navigation to ISI's citation databases. The databases index over 8,000 journals, including more than 600 in the physical sciences. The implementation of this agreement immediately adds more than 350,000 reference links to our journals.

Free Web Access to AIP Journal Abstracts
We now offer free access to our journal abstracts via the Internet. AIP abstracts of online articles were previously available only to AIP journal subscribers or subscribers to AIP's SPIN database. Now anyone with Internet access can log on to an AIP journal top page and view the complete abstract of any article free of charge. Our goal is to have links to the source articles for more than 90% of the references in every AIP article by the end of this year.

Enjoy the Convenience and Power of Full-text HTML
Online journal articles that are HTML coded include active links that are embedded right in the text. This allows users to navigate much more easily than with traditional PDF files, which offer links only at the reference level. At present, HTML is available for three AIP Journals—Applied Physics Letters, Journal of Applied Physics, and The Journal of Chemical Physics. Plans are in the works to bring this formatting advance to all of our publications.

Visit AIP's Re-designed Journal Home Pages
Log on to http://www.aip.org/ojis and discover changes to our home pages that benefit both readers and authors. First, users will find that the new design makes navigation much easier. Links to principle areas within articles have been consolidated and structured in a more user-friendly manner. We've also used fewer graphics for faster downloading. Finally, users will be able to access more information about each journal, including scope, coverage, editorial personnel, and requirements for manuscript submission.

Save Up to 50% with AIP Combination Subscriptions
To help you address the increasing pressures on serials budgets, AIP now offers an expanded variety of combination subscriptions—including online subscriptions—at very substantial savings. By subscribing to a combination package, you may find—as have many libraries—that you can reduce your subscription costs while adding titles to your collection. Ask us about packages that can save your institution anywhere from $51 to $24,500.
