"A timely, comprehensive, and very welcome overview of a rich and rapidly growing field of inquiry."
—Robert D. Putnam, professor at Harvard University and author of Bowling Alone

Encyclopedia of COMMUNITY
Edited by Karen Christensen & David Levinson

"With every passing minute, it becomes more and more apparent that our world is one community. The Encyclopedia of Community serves as recognition of this trend and as a needed resource. The four-volume set not only explains the emerging buzz words of community such as 'social capital' or 'civic engagement' but also tells many stories of community institutions that work, such as public libraries."
—Sarah Ann Long, Past President (1999-2000), American Library Association

SAGE Reference is very pleased to announce the Encyclopedia of Community, a major reference work that summarizes everything we know about how we humans come together. Community itself is a concept, an experience, and a central part of being human. The encyclopedia covers communities of the past and present, from 19th century utopians to the communes of the 1960's, to today's Rotary Club, Amish, and cyber communities. Developed by award winning editors Karen Christensen and David Levinson with a board of leading scholars, the Encyclopedia of Community is essential for history, sociology, psychology, anthropology, economics, and public administration students and the interested public, who will turn to the encyclopedia for inspiration and illumination, stories and strategies.

BRIAN HARRISON, Editor-in-Chief
Professor of Modern British History, University of Oxford

Over a twelve-year period a distinguished supervisory committee from the University of Oxford, with a grant from the British Academy, has coordinated the work of 10,000 specialists worldwide to recreate one of the great English reference works. The result is the Oxford Dictionary of National Biography—a collection of 50,000 specially-written biographies of men and women who have shaped all aspects of the British past, from the earliest times to the end of the year 2000. The stories of these lives—told in substantial, authoritative, and readable articles—will be published simultaneously in 60 print volumes and online in September 2004.

Expanding on the original DNB, published more than 100 years ago, the Oxford DNB now includes:
- Over 13,500 newly selected people from all historical periods
- Thousands more biographies of women
- Extensive revisions to the original 36,000 articles: 70% are completely new, 30% are heavily revised
- Coverage of influential figures from all walks of life
- 10,000 portrait illustrations compiled in partnership with the National Portrait Gallery in London

Oxford DNB Online will provide access to the full text of the print version with extensive search and cross-reference options, extensive cross-referencing, external links, updates, and much more.

Handbook of Psychology
Irving B. Weiner, University of South Florida, Editor-in-Chief
Orchestrated under the auspices of Irving B. Weiner, PhD, ABPP, this invaluable and comprehensive 12-volume reference brings together some of the most respected and influential experts in psychology today.
Handbook of Psychology provides a clearly written and practical review of the entire field and a dynamic evaluation of the topics covered—from current knowledge to emerging trends and future directions. If there is only one reference you add to your psychology collection this year, Handbook of Psychology should be the one.

Applied Mechanics Reviews

Applied Mechanics Reviews (AMR) is the international review journal covering all forms of mechanics, including fluid mechanics, applied mechanics, thermomechanics, biomechanics, geomaterials, and solid mechanics. Its expanded section of review articles surveys the current literature and analyzes trends.

recent and forthcoming review articles

- Bed forms in turbulent channel flow, A. Gyr and W. Kinzelbach, Swiss Federal Institute of Technology, Zurich, Switzerland
- Computational modeling of cell sorting, tissue engulfment, and related phenomena, G.W. Brodland, University of Waterloo, Waterloo, ON, Canada
- Computational strategies for flexible multibody systems, T.M. Westley, Advanced Science and Automation Corp, Hampton, VA, and A.K. Noor, Old Dominion University, Hampton, VA
- Constitutive theories based on the multiplicative decomposition of deformation gradient: Thermoelasticity, elastoplasticity, and biomechanics, V.A. Lubarda, University of California, San Diego, CA
- Effect of Schmidt number on small-scale passive scalar turbulence, R.A. Antonio, University of New Castle, New South Wales, Australia, and P. Orlandi, University degli Studi di Roma, Rome, Italy
- Mechanics of electroelastic bodies under biasing fields, J. Yang, University of Nebraska, Lincoln, NE, and Y. Hu, Huazhong University of Science and Technology, Wuhan, China
- Multiple scales analyses of the dynamics of weakly nonlinear mechanical systems, M.P. Cartmell, University of Glasgow, Scotland, UK, S.W. Ziegler, UMIST, Manchester, UK, R. Khanin and D.M. Forehand, University of Glasgow, Scotland, UK
- Microscale pumping technologies for microchannel cooling systems, V. Singhal, S.V. Garimella, and A. Raman, Purdue University, West Lafayette, IN

Valuable Products and Services for You and Your Patrons from the American Institute of Physics

AIP has a Web page expressly for librarians
Journal pricing, document delivery, consortia licensing. Now the information that you need for almost any AIP- or AIP-distributed product or service can be found on our new Web site designed just for librarians. In addition to the above topics, you'll find links to a wealth of valuable information on AIP Conference Proceedings, Virtual Journals, copyright and privacy policies, the OJPS Usage Statistics Service, and much, much more. See it for yourself at http://librarians.aip.org.

Access the full text of AIP journals back to 1975
All subscriptions to AIP journals at the institutional rate include access to a five-year online backfile. For an annual maintenance fee of only $65 each ($95 for The Journal of Chemical Physics, Journal of Applied Physics, and Applied Physics Letters), you can provide your patrons with access back to 1975. Choose the entire 28-year backfile and give your patrons access to more than 150,000 additional articles online.

AIP Conference Proceedings are online
AIP Conference Proceedings are now available online beginning with number 500, published in January 2000. Institutions with a standing order for all Proceedings receive online access to every available online volume. Individual articles may be purchased online for immediate delivery through AIP's DocumentStore. To begin your online access, e-mail corr@aip.org. To learn more, visit http://proceedings.aip.org.

http://librarians.aip.org

License a prestigious collection of science and engineering journals
AIP can tailor a consortia package to your needs, allowing you to provide electronic access to an unlimited number of users—regardless of their physical location. Many of the more than 100 journals in our collection are among the most highly cited in their field. Societies participating in AIP's consortia program include APS, ASCE, ASME, and OSA. For further information, e-mail mdrago@aip.org.

Virtual Journals in Science and Technology
Virtual Journals are online publications that collect relevant papers from a broad range of journals. The present series of five journals offers convenient access to the latest developments in nanoscale science, biological physics, quantum information, superconductivity, and ultrafast science. Articles are selected from the latest issues of more than 50 source journals, including those of AIP, APS, OSA, Science and Nature. Visit www.virtualjournals.org.

The day before the day that would live in infamy.

The New York Times printed Toyko's explanation for recent troop movements, and a feature story about the four-day fog that was covering the city. The Wall Street Journal ran an article describing railroad industry problems alongside an article that claimed the market stayed calm seeing "little of a decisive nature concerning the Japanese situation." The Christian Science Monitor reported on a New England College Convention speaker who urged the government to be more forthright in facing the German threat. Welcome to a snapshot of history that puts the momentous in the context of the everyday. The ProQuest Historical Newspapers™ program offers easy online access to more than 150 years of newspaper content, fully digitized from cover to cover, including The New York Times, The Wall Street Journal, The Washington Post, and The Christian Science Monitor, giving you a breadth and depth of history previously unattainable.
