The Continuing Saga ...

• Will other businesses rush to do the same, following Google’s precedent, thus introducing useful competition into the digital marketplace?
• Will Google enhance the role of libraries as the new destination? Will libraries become passe?

Many have views about these matters, and Against the Grain thought to solicit and represent some of them for its readers. Here you will find Ivy Anderson’s opening piece, in which she argues the benefits of having millions of books available to readers and responds to several key librarians’ and scholars’ concerns (such as long-term preservation). Pamela Samuelson offers an author’s viewpoint, based in her legal expertise; as a classical scholar, James O’Donnell values Google, but he does not want to lose the added (and enormous) metadata value that librarians add. The international view is not often heard in the United States, so ATG invited Paul Whitney to write from the perspective of one of the U.S.’s major partners, Canada, our neighbor to the North. Stuart Hamilton provides a broad international view, grounded in his work as policy advisor for IFLA. Finally, Jonathan Band has given us permission to reproduce his “March Madness” flow chart, showing possible paths forward for the Settlement. Perhaps by the time this ATG issue is published, some of the paths forward will be clearer, but by no means will the Judge’s ruling be the end of the story. You will read more in these pages as time passes. And you will be better informed for your next plane trip!

BORN AND LIVED: Hallein, Austria; lived in US, Canada, and UK.
IN MY SPARE TIME I LIKE TO: Pursue, wherever I may be, the following: dark chocolate, cupcakes, French macaroons (I bought my first computer in the 80s to create a database of chocolate shops).
FAVORITE BOOKS: For spare-time reading, I enjoy mysteries, particularly with an international setting. I could list many, but here are a few favorites: Colin Cotterill (Coroner Dr. Paiboun, Laos); James Church (Inspector O, North Korea); Henning Mankell (Sweden or Africa); Eliot Pattison (Inspector Shan, Tibet); Lisa See (China); Xiaolong Qu (Inspector Chen, China). Well, let me stop here and hope at least one of these authors is new to you. And email me for more suggestions!
PET PEEVES: Drivers speaking on cell phones. Young people smoking. Don’t they know the statistics? People who need to speak on cell phones wherever they may be and don’t care who listens to whatever they’re saying (sometimes really private stuff).
MOST MEMORABLE CAREER ACHIEVEMENT: Starting NERL, the Northeast Research Libraries Consortium.
GOAL I HOPE TO ACHIEVE FIVE YEARS FROM NOW: Less obsessive about working so much of the time? But, then, I do love it!!
HOW/WHERE DO I SEE THE INDUSTRY IN FIVE YEARS: For the librarians, I see enormous opportunities to deliver information to our readers in many new, different ways and to adopt a flexible, innovative mindset. Things we do will keep changing — no standstills. I think (hope) we will be visibly closer to solutions for reliable digital preservation, so that the shift to e-content needn’t be so worrisome for scholars and librarians. This will allow us to think about how best to manage and consolidate our physical collections. Many traditional library spaces will be repurposed or else shrink/go away. The library will be wherever readers are. We will be five years closer to the vision of a universal digital library, as each of our institutions continues to play its part in making that wonderful future happen.

Rumors

in Philadelphia to Meredith Jane Pettersons at 12:55 AM, April 5th. (8lbs. 15oz.) The births were only a few hours apart. Almost seems like they were coordinated to allow the grandparents time to be there! Whew! Everyone is healthy and doing well. Steve, his wife Anna, and son Will, hung around for a few days, and Anna even stayed on a week with Jane to help out!

Steve was telling me that he was chatting with an old Dickinson colleague, Valrie (Val) Davis who is now at Florida University. And Valrie plans to attend the Charleston Conference this fall and has submitted a proposal for a paper. Hoo-ha! http://www.library.ufl.edu/msl/about/faculty/valdavis.html

This whole talk of pregnancy and travel and youth reminds me of how young and crazy my husband and I were once instead of the mature, intelligent human beings we are now. We traveled all over Greece when I was 5 ½ months pregnant with our daughter Ileana. We didn’t even have hotel rooms booked. I remember a nice older lady renting us her bedroom so we would have a place to sleep for the night, I think it was on the island of Skiathos. Youth! Isn’t it grand!

Have been traveling a lot this spring. Noticed in the Delta in-flight magazine, Sky, a big spread on Brussels, Belgium, where the 12th Fiesole Retreat was held (actually the Retreat was in Leuven, but nowhere is far in Belgium). Seems that Brussels is the birthplace of Hergé (the artist of Tintin) (real name Georges Rémi) and the inspiration for much of the artwork in the Tintin comics of which there are over 24 titles translated into over 50 languages. But why am I telling you all this? Apparently, Steven Spielberg’s The Adventures of Tintin: Secret of the Unicorn is due to hit movie screens next year. Reportedly Spielberg bought the rights in 1983 but was waiting for animation technology to become good enough to film the adventures. You heard it here!

And, the 13th Fiesole Retreat will take place in St. Petersburg, Russia, May 12-15, 2011. If you are interested in receiving an invitation contact me or Becky Lenzini.
